Kids To Take Over Town Government On June 19

June 19 will be "Kids' Day" in Gettysburg.

Borough Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster announced today that that date has been set by the Junior police for the first annual youth day in the community.

Burgess C. A. Heiges had agreed previously to let the youngsters "take over" the town government for the day—under adult supervision—and asked the Junior Police members to set the date.

As a result, for one day the town will have a juvenile mayor, police chief, policeman, borough engineer, highway department and all the rest.

Harpster pointed out that not only will the program provide a "lot of fun" for the youths, but will also give them training in the operation of their community.

To top off the day the junior police will stage a dance for all teenagers in the Hotel Gettysburg annex in the evening.

A committee of junior police will decorate the annex and clean up afterward. Another committee will look into the matter of having a buffet lunch for the dancers.

Both the annex and the music for the program will be donated, Harpster said, with the musicians being members of Don Peebles orchestra who live in this section. The music is being donated by the musicians' union through a fund established for such type of entertainment and arrangements for the orchestra were made by Harry M. Oyler, Jr.

DAR ASSEMBLY TODAY AT GHS; AWARD PRIZES

The Gettysburg chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution conducted the annual awards assembly at the Gettysburg high school this morning where prizes were awarded in the chapter's 43rd annual senior essay contest and an address was delivered by Dr. Carl C. Rasmussen, member of the faculty of the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological seminary.

The winning essay was read by its author, Doris Jean Kitzmiller, after she had received first prize of $10 from the DAR regent, Mrs. Mark K. Eckert. The topic for the essay was "My Obligation as an American Citizen." The second prize of $5 was given to Lorraine Hemler.

Mrs. Eckert also awarded the American history prizes for juniors to Betty Jo Hill and Ruth Jeanne Diehl. The awards were $3 and $2, respectively.

Great Convictions

Speaking on the subject "What America Stands For," Dr. Rasmussen asserted that "America was made great by the great convictions of our founding fathers." If these great convictions are lost, the speaker said, the next generation loses its moral standards; they receive bad convictions and social disintegration follows.

"The only thing to overcome bad convictions is a set of good ones," Dr. Rasmussen continued. "In our society there are three fundamental institutions to see to it that our good convictions are not lost—the home, the church and the school. What these institutions undertake and accomplish depends upon us as individuals. To whom does the future belong?" he asked, "To the people with the greatest convictions."

After music by the high school orchestra and the singing of "America," Russell Campbell conducted a devotional program and the pledge of allegiance was led by Scout Luther Eberly.

The high school boys' trio, including Donald Bollinger, Reginald Dunkinson and Bruce Westerdahl, sang: "Dixie," "Old Black Joe," and "When I Was Single." The high school choir, directed by Richard B. Shade, sang "Open Thy Eyes" and "Charming Bells." Singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" concluded the program.

ARENDTSTVILLE WILL VOTE ON NEW JOINTURE

Residents of Arendtsville and vicinity today were being asked to sign "yes" or "no" to a recommendation that the school board enter into a jointure with other upper county school districts.

Members of the school board and the special investigating committee appointed by the board a week ago were making a house-to-house canvass in the community, in Beechertown and in other nearby areas to ascertain the wish of the people concerning the proposed joining of the school district with other districts, for the establishment of an elementary center at Arendtsville and the closing of the Arendtsville high school.

The petitions were started Tuesday night after about 100 residents of the area, meeting with the school board and the special committee at the high school, voted to accept a report by the committee recommending that Arendtsville high school be closed and an elementary center be established there. At the conclusion of that meeting those present were asked to sign the petitions. There was no opposition.

Committee Reports

In addition to the house-to-house canvass, other petitions are being placed at the two stores, the bank and restaurant in Arendtsville so that those who might not be at home while the canvass is being made today and Thursday may express their feelings on the proposal.

E. D. Bushman, chairman of the committee appointed last week to investigate the need for a jointure with other school systems, presented the following report:

"The Legislature of the Commonwealth in 1945 passed a bill, namely 408, taking away the special privileges granted a school of the 4th class district of which we are a part, thereby through their short-sightedness and by the prodding of the so-called higher educator we are faced with a deficit of more than $50,000 which we, the taxpayers of

Butler Taxpayers Approve Jointure

Butler township's taxpayers, meeting at the Good Hope school Monday evening, instructed the township school board to enter into a jointure with Biglerville with the idea of eventually merging the two systems.

That decision was reached after a discussion of the problems facing the township because of the provisions of Act 403 of the state legislature which changes the reimbursement basis and acts to close one-room schools.

The patrons decided that a jointure of several years length would be the most desirable thing for the township immediately with the merger the most desirable long range plan.

The patrons agreed that the township should enter into any jointure that may be formed, whether between Biglerville and Butler township alone, or with Biglerville and other districts.

TAKE FIRST STEP ON RECREATION PROGRAM HERE

Representatives of the Youth Center, the borough council and the school board, meeting Tuesday night in the Methodist church with representatives of other civic and fraternal organizations, and individuals, launched the first definite step toward a year-round, comprehensive and long range recreational program for Gettysburg by directing that a committee investigate the possibilities of employing a full-time recreational supervisor to draw up a program for use here.

The meeting was told by Dr. A. W. Castle, chief of the extension bureau of the state department of education, that funds spent under the direction of the local school board for playground supervision for out-of-school children and adults is reimbursable. He said the state would pay approximately 75 per cent of the cost of such approved supervision.

The meeting went on record in favor of House Bill No. 838 which would extend this reimbursement to cover both out-of-school and in-school recreational program supervision, and voted to contact members of the House asking their support of the measure.

See Two Films

Dr. Dwight P. Putman, chairman of the joint recreation committee, presided at the meeting. Two reels of movies were shown, "1,000 for Recreation," and "Playtown—U.S.A.," filmed by the Athletic Institute of America, showing playground development in other cities.

No official action other than authorization for the committee to obtain data on a playground supervisor, and endorsement of the house bill, was taken Tuesday night, and no other commitments were asked, "but we hope soon we can move ahead toward something concrete and definite," Dr. Putman said.

Dr. Castle declared, in an address on playgrounds and state reimbursement, that "For all that you here in Gettysburg have, the credit belongs to those who have gone before, and what those who are to come have to enjoy, will depend on you."

School Responsibility

He said it was fortunate that Gettysburg had no slum areas, but he recalled the murder of Herbert Humpert, Tyrone township farmer, by two Mechanicsburg youths, Ray H. Simmons and Robert L. Staley and asked: "What happened to these boys? And whose fault is it? Well, it is too late to do them any good, but you can count on this, our children are going to have recreation and fun, and we can't stop them."

Continuing, he said: "We can provide for them, under wholesome conditions, or they are going to go somewhere else, to the roadhouses, the beer halls and the public dances."

Dr. Castle declared that the sole purpose and justification of public education is the "social" competence of the individual, and he added that "this is vastly more than just the three R's, it is the moral, spiritual, character, and social development," and said: "I know of nothing equal to an adequate program of recreation in which all take part, to accomplish this, and I feel that it is the responsibility of the public schools."

Personnel Is Big Cost

Dr. Castle admitted that the big cost is the cost of trained personnel, but he said that the state provided reimbursement for leaders, under school board supervision, with a minimum pay of $2 an hour, the state to pay approximately 75 per cent. This reimbursement applies only to programs for those out of school, he said.

"We provide for those in school, but if one drops out, because of family financial difficulties, to go to work, etc., we drop him or her like a hot cake."

Rasmussen, member of the faculty of the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological seminary.

The winning essay was read by its author, Doris Jean Kitzmiller, after she had received first prize of $10 from the DAR regent, Mrs. Mark K. Eckert. The topic for the essay was "My Obligation as an American Citizen." The second prize of $5 was given to Lorraine Hemler.

Mrs. Eckert also awarded the American history prizes for juniors to Betty Jo Hill and Ruth Jeanne Diehl. The awards were $3 and $2, respectively.

Great Convictions

Speaking on the subject "What America Stands For," Dr. Rasmussen asserted that "America was made great by the great convictions of our founding fathers." If these great convictions are lost, the speaker said, the next generation loses its moral standards; they receive bad convictions and social disintegration follows.

"The only thing to overcome bad convictions is a set of good ones," Dr. Rasmussen continued. "In our society there are three fundamental institutions to see to it that our good convictions are not lost—the home, the church and the school. What these institutions undertake and accomplish depends upon us as individuals. To whom does the future belong?" he asked. "To the people with the greatest convictions."

After music by the high school orchestra and the singing of "America," Russell Campbell conducted a devotional program and the pledge of allegiance was led by Scout Luther Eberly.

The high school boys' trio, including Donald Bollinger, Reginald Dunkinson and Bruce Westerdahl, sang: "Dixie," "Old Black Joe," and "When I Was Single." The high school choir, directed by Richard B. Shade, sang "Open Thy Eyes" and "Charming Bells." Singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" concluded the program.

The meeting will be the last prior to the association's fair scheduled for May 23 and 24, and final arrangements for the fair will be completed.

Harrisburg, May 14 (AP)—Rough sailing was predicted by Republican leaders today for committee-approasked the Junior Police members to set the date.

As a result, for one day the town will have a juvenile mayor, police chief, policeman, borough engineer, highway department and all the rest. Harpster pointed out that not only will the program provide a "lot of fun" for the youths, but will also give them training in the operation of their community.

To top off the day the junior police will stage a dance for all teenagers in the Hotel Gettysburg annex in the evening.

A committee of junior police will decorate the annex and clean up afterward. Another committee will look into the matter of having a buffet lunch for the dancers.

Both the annex and the music for the program will be donated, Harpster said, with the musicians being members of Don Peebles orchestra who live in this section. The music is being donated by the musicians' union through a fund established for such type of entertainment and arrangements for the orchestra were made by Harry M. Oyler, Jr.

ARENDSVILLE WILL VOTE ON NEW JOINTURE

Residents of Arendtsville and vicinity today were being asked to sign "yes" or "no" to a recommendation that the school board enter into a jointure with other upper county school districts.

Members of the school board and the special investigating committee appointed by the board a week ago were making a house-to-house canvass in the community, in Beechertown and in other nearby areas to ascertain the wish of the people concerning the proposed joining of the school district with other districts, for the establishment of an elementary center at Arendtsville and the closing of the Arendtsville high school.

The petitions were started Tuesday night after about 100 residents of the area, meeting with the school board and the special committee at the high school, voted to accept a report by the committee recommending that Arendtsville high school be closed and an elementary center be established there. At the conclusion of that meeting those present were asked to sign the petitions. There was no opposition.

Committee Reports

In addition to the house-to-house canvass, other petitions are being placed at the two stores, the bank and restaurant in Arendtsville so that those who might not be at home while the canvass is being made today and Thursday may express their feelings on the proposal.

E. D. Bushman, chairman of the committee appointed last week to investigate the need for a jointure with other school systems, presented the following report:

"The Legislature of the Commonwealth in 1945 passed a bill, namely 403, taking away the special privileges granted a school of the 4th class district of which we are a part, thereby through their shortsightedness and by the prodding of the so-called higher educator we are faced with a deficit of more than $10,000 which we, the taxpayers of Arendtsville, must pay."

Butler Taxpayers Approve Jointure

Butler township's taxpayers, meeting at the Good Hope school Monday evening, instructed the township school board to enter into a jointure with Biglerville with the idea of eventually merging the two systems.

That decision was reached after a discussion of the problems facing the township because of the provisions of Act 403 of the state legislature which changes the reimbursement basis and acts to close one-room schools.

The patrons decided that a jointure of several years length would be the most desirable thing for the township immediately with the merger the most desirable long range plan.

The patrons agreed that the township should enter into any jointure that may be formed, whether between Biglerville and Butler township alone, or with Biglerville and other districts.

TAKE FIRST STEP ON RECREATION PROGRAM HERE

Representatives of the Youth Center, the borough council and the school board, meeting Tuesday night in the Methodist church with representatives of other civic and fraternal organizations and individuals, launched the first definite step toward a year-round, comprehensive and long range recreational program for Gettysburg by directing that a committee investigate the possibilities of employing a full-time recreational supervisor to draw up a program for use here.

The meeting was told by Dr. A. W. Castle, chief of the extension bureau of the state department of education, that funds spent under the direction of the local school board for playground supervision for out-of-school children and adults is reimbursable. He said the state would pay approximately 75 per cent of the cost of such approved supervision.

The meeting went on record in favor of House Bill No. 838 which would extend this reimbursement to cover both out-of-school and in-school recreational program supervision, and voted to contact members of the House asking their support of the measure.

See Two Films

Dr. Dwight F. Putman, chairman of the joint recreation committee, presided at the meeting. Two reels of movies were shown, "1,000 for Recreation," and "Playtown—U.S.A." filmed by the Athletic Institute of America, showing playground development in other cities.

No official action other than authorization for the committee to obtain data on a playground supervisor, and endorsement of the house bill, was taken Tuesday night, and no other commitments were asked, "but we hope soon we can move ahead toward something concrete and definite," Dr. Putman said.

Dr. Castle declared, in an address on playgrounds and state reimbursement, that "For all that you here in Gettysburg have, the credit belongs to those who have gone before, and what those who are to come have to enjoy, will depend on you."

School Responsibility

He said it was fortunate that Gettysburg had no slum areas, but he recalled the murder of Herbert Humpert, Tyrone township farmer, by two Mechanicsburg youths, Ray H. Simmons and Robert L. Staley and asked: "What happened to these boys? And whose fault is it? Well, it is too late to do them any good, but you can count on this, our children are going to have recreation and fun, and we can't stop them."

Continuing, he said: "We can provide for them, under wholesome conditions, or they are going to go somewhere else, to the roadhouses, the beer halls and the public dances."

Dr. Castle declared that the sole purpose and justification of public education is the social competence of the individual, and he added that "this is vastly more than just the three R's, it is the moral, spiritual, character and social development," and said: "I know of nothing equal to an adequate program of recreation in which all take part, to accomplish this, and I feel that it is the responsibility of the public schools."

Personnel Is Big Cost

Dr. Castle admitted that the big cost is the cost of trained personnel, but he said that the state provided reimbursement for leaders, under school board supervision, with a minimum pay of $2 an hour, the state to pay approximately 75 per cent. This reimbursement applies only to programs for those out of school, he said.

"We provide for those in school, but if one drops out, because of family financial difficulties, to go to work, etc., we drop him or her like a hot cake."

'AVERAGE' CROP DESPITE FREEZE

Harrisburg, May 14 (AP)—Record low temperatures of last week caused "severe damage" in the Adams-Franklin-York fruit belt, the State Agriculture department said today in predicting, however, "an average crop of all fruits may still be possible for the state as a whole."

The full extent of the damage cannot be determined until after the usual June drop of fruit, a Federal-State weather and crop summary revealed.

In addition to fruit, tender vegetable crops and some legume hays were damaged by three succeeding nights of below-freezing temperatures which caught many apples in southern Pennsylvania in full bloom. The department added that in central and some northern counties peaches, cherries and pears were in blossom.

Timely And Modern Suggestions Presented By Builders And Contractors

NEW KITCHEN DESIGN SAVES TIME AND STEPS

Modern design is recognizing that to the home maker the kitchen is probably the most important room in the house. In recognition of that fact, today's kitchen is being streamlined in efficiency and appearance to save the housewife needless steps, time and effort, and to make it a more pleasant place in which to

Zone Control For Heating In Homes

Window drafts, changes in wind, door openings, and the varying effect of solar heat, which tend to counter-act indoor comfort attained in the home through a basic warm air heating and air conditioning system can be compensated for through the use of a zone control system.

Mechanically operated, the zone control system can control independently the air conditions in one room or a section of the home without affecting the air conditions in other zones. Zone control systems and devices are being made more generally available for all types of shelters.

The straight-line production technique of modern industry is being utilized. Equipment and cabinets are arranged so that the groceries can be unpacked, stored, cooked, served and dishes put away after a meal in a steady flow of one-way effort. Needless retracing of steps is avoided.

In general, there are three basic plans: the straight wall or corridor type and the L and U-shapes. The arrangements of the basic equipment units of sink, stove and refrigerator to wall space determine the selection of the plan. All three lend themselves to straight-line operations and can be made to include either separate or integrated dining space.

The cabinet units can be purchased ready made or they can be made to order by a carpenter or cabinet builder.

The composition of the walls and ceilings are important to kitchen satisfaction since they are subject to severe moisture conditions. An excellent material for finishing new kitchens or remodeling old ones is asbestos cement board. It comes in large, smooth surfaced sheets which can be applied easily to new framing or right over the old walls and ceilings. Besides having moisture resistance, asbestos board is fire-proof and durable, for it contains nothing that can rot or decay.

NUMBER OF GAS HEATED HOMES UP 15 PER CENT

The number of homes heated by gas increased 15 per cent in 1946 following a steady increase in the use of gas as a heating fuel during the war and pre-war days, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Gas heating equipment is extremely compact and thus makes full utilization of space in basements or utility rooms possible. A gas boiler, either hot water or steam, for an average size house takes little more space than a refrigerator.

Recent developments in gas equipment take into full account the trend toward smaller homes. Some of the new compact gas-fired hot water and steam boilers are particularly adaptable to installations in utility rooms or kitchens in basementless houses.

Used in Radiant Heat
Aside from the operating controls, a gas burner has no moving parts. Gas burners are quiet in operation and relatively long in service life.

Conversion burners, with complete automatic controls, can be supplied for the changeover of equipment originally installed to utilize other fuels. Heating contractors will advise homeowners whether existing boilers will burn gas economically and are properly sized for the heating load.

Gas is being widely used in connection with radiant heating by means of pipe coils in the floors, ceilings, or walls.

All gas burning equipment should bear the seal of approval of the American Gas association. This seal is evidence that the model has been tested in the association's laboratories and meets National standards for safety.

Hardwoods Meet Vital Floor Need

The ideal flooring material for homes and many other types of buildings should possess a high degree of abrasive resistance, yet be "soft" enough to permit restoring the floor to its original beauty after years of use.

Such natural products as oak and other hardwoods fulfill these requirements admirably. Their abrasive resistance is sufficient to make them virtually indestructible under severe use. Having characteristics that cannot be duplicated by man-made products, they can be readily reconditioned to look like new after years of hard wear. The cost of such reconditioning is moderate.

REGULAR CLOSET CLEANING
Don't forget to clean your closets regularly. With a special equipment that came with your vacuum cleaner you can whisk the dust off the shelves in no time. After you have taken the dust off the floor use the blower attachment to freshen the whole closet.

Insulating Board Can Brighten Walls

Interesting and attractive walls and ceilings for children's rooms can be easily applied with decorative insulating board. The various sizes and colors make possible an infinite variety of effects.

The sound quieting qualities of insulating board products are another factor recommending their use for this purpose.

HEAT LOSS IS FOUND COSTLY

American homes owners lose millions of dollars annually, it is estimated by heating authorities, because they do not properly guard their homes against unnecessary heat wastage.

Unused fireplaces, for instance, let a good deal of heat escape up the chimney. This loss can be reduced merely by cutting a screen of insulating board to fit snugly across the fireplace opening. The screen thus made can be painted or otherwise decorated to harmonize with the room plan.

Considerable heat is lost through window areas. In some rooms not much can be done about it beyond the usual measures of installing storm windows and pulling the drapes whenever possible. The cellar, however, is another matter. Many, if not all, of the basement windows will never be used during the winter months. Heat loss at these points can be minimized by wedging pieces of insulating board into the openings.

At times as many as 125,000 Moslems have visited Mecca in a year.

INDIRECT WATER HEATING COSTS ARE FOUND LOW

The low cost of heating water indirectly by means of the same boiler which heats the house has been disclosed by an investigation made by the Engineering Experiment Station of the University of Illinois. The tests were carried out in the ITR Research Home located just off the campus of the university.

An oil-fired boiler was used in the tests which extended over a period of two years. The boiler was used with an indirect water heater connected to a horizontal, insulated 30-gallon storage tank.

During the heating season, when the boiler supplied both heat and domestic hot water, the average daily fuel consumption chargeable to supplying 50 gallons of 150 degree water daily was 0.36 of a gallon of oil. This represents a monthly oil consumption of slightly less than 11 gallons.

In the summer, when the boiler was used to supply hot water only, it was found that approximately 1.4 gallons of oil per day were required to supply 50 gallons of 150 degree water daily, representing a monthly fuel consumption for summer operation of 42 gallons.

Assuming operation during a heating season of eight months duration, and four months of summer operation, the annual cost of heating domestic hot water drawn at the rate of 50 gallons daily, with oil at 8 cents per gallon, is $20.40 per year or $1.70 a month.

It was found that omitting the insulation from the piping between the indirect water and the tank will increase the fuel consumption 20 per cent.

Fire Levels Garage Near New Oxford

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a two-car frame garage, chicken house and hog pen on the property of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Phillips, Qualityville, just north of New Oxford Tuesday morning. No estimate of the loss was available.

The New Oxford Fire company was called out shortly before 7 o'clock. The fire had gained considerable headway and firemen turned their efforts to saving the garage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Mummert, about twenty feet from the Phillips garage.

The buildings on the Phillips property were leveled in about 20 minutes. The wind carried flames toward the Mummert garage but firemen kept it from catching fire. The roof of the Mummert garage was charred and warped and it will probably be necessary to replace it. No poultry or livestock was in the buildings which were destroyed. The chicken house and hog pen were attached to the garage. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips had left their home scarcely fifteen minutes before the fire was discovered.

300 Patients Routed By Hospital Blaze

Pittston, Pa., May 14 (AP)—Fire which destroyed the main building of the Ransom home and hospital, a mental institution and almshouse, routed more than 300 patients six miles north of this anthracite community.

All were evacuated safely but Violet Bieseker Brown of Pittston, an elderly patient at the home a number of years, suffered a heart attack and died in the hospital yard at the height of the fire yesterday. Flames shooting from the demolished roof of the 25-year old structure were visible for miles.

Nurses and attendants made repeated trips into the blazing, smoke-choked wards to remove patients, taking some of the weaker ones out on stretchers.

New Hope For End Of Phone Strike

Washington, May 14 (AP)—Government conciliators called Union and Western Electric company officials back into session today with renewed hope of settling a strike which began April 7.

New wage offers by both sides were described as "a turning point in our negotiations" by Ernest Weaver, president of the Association of Communication Equipment workers.

The ACEW, a nationwide union of 20,000 installation workers, and the Western Electric Employees Association, representing 22,000 workers in 21 plants, are involved in the talks. Western Electric is a major unit in the Bell telephone system.

The company made its first wage offer to the ACEW last night and the Union modified its demands. Although neither offer was accepted, it appeared that the negotiators were closer together than at any time since the walkout began.

Arendtsville borough, would have to make up in order to hold on schools as they are now set up and with the present enrollment.

Lose State Aid

"This you all know, without further argument, if so imposed would break down the economic structure of the borough.

"The deficit could be changed by the cooperation of Arendtsville borough, Franklin township, Meadell township and Butler township, but in act 403 a 4th class district does not get the reimbursement for pupils sent to our school as they do from a district in the third class, namely Gettysburg. Thus Franklin chose to take her pupils away so they might save approximately $1,200 or more in cash. This statement is used as an example.

"The committee recommends a jointure be established for a set period of time. By this method the problems confronting each district involved can be ironed out and a longer term plan can be formulated. The cost of establishing, constructing, equipping, furnishing and maintaining joint schools or departments shall be paid by the several districts establishing the same, in such manner and in such proportion as they may agree upon.

Urge Cooperation

"The committee recommends that care be taken in the selecting of a faculty in each case with personality, ability to cooperate, and having the progress of the boy and girl at heart in particular being the standards used.

"The long term plan will insure better schools for all concerned, but will require a lot of planning and perseverance. Cooperation with our directors in all plans will be needed, for the advancement of this long term plan intending to give said district a third class rating equal to Gettysburg."

In the preamble to its report the committee pointed out that its studies had been to determine the location of schools to "the best advantage for the boy and girl in particular."

M. E. Knouse, president of the Arendtsville board presided at the public meeting.

Favor Jointure

After some discussion concerning the differences between a merger and a jointure the residents agreed that the best thing to seek at present is a jointure because it permits action prior to the beginning of next year's school term.

Mr. Knouse explained that while at present it appears that possibly six school districts might agree to a jointure, the long range view makes it appear that several additional districts might in the future, according to their needs, enter the jointure proposed at the present time. As "things are shaping now," he said "the initial steps can be taken without undoing anything in the future if other districts come into the jointure."

There was some discussion concerning whether the Arendtsville high school building would be open for use by community residents on the same basis as in past years if the school board enters a jointure. It was pointed out that the various school boards will retain ownership at all buildings put up by them prior to the jointure after they unite and as a result the use of the school as a building would still be under the jurisdiction of the Arendtsville school board, "and I feel sure we will not change our policy," Knouse added.

Continue Activities

Donald Ernst, principal of Arendtsville, suggested that plays, operettas, games and the like on the high school level could probably be continued at Arendtsville as in the past when one patron pointed out that Arendtsville youngsters who could not arrange to stay after school at Biglerville would probably miss much of that type of activity.

John Bream, president of the Franklin township board protested against the statements about Franklin township in the report presented at the meeting. He said that while sending the Franklin students to Gettysburg was being considered the board had not as yet officially acted either way. He was reminded that the statement had been used merely as an example.

NEW LIQUOR LAW UP FOR DEBATE

Harrisburg, May 14 (AP)—A proposed new state liquor code was slated for debate in the House today with the Republican majority divided on the question of excluding clubs from the state's liquor license quota law.

Rep. Herbert P. Sorg (R-Elk), House majority leader, said the GOP House caucus took no stand on the code at a lengthy session at which supporters and opponents of the proposal debated the quota provision at length.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. Ellwood J. Turner (R-Delaware) codifies the state liquor laws, making seven changes in existing statutes including the quota provision.

"I am against voting on the club question in any codification of the liquor law," Rep. William McMillen

(R-Indiana), commented later on the question. "There is nothing in the bill to define what a club should be. It should be taken out of the code and voted on separately."

McMillen at the same time said he favored a provision in the code which he said would allow the state Superior Court to end present confusion on clubs. The provision would permit for the first time appeals from county courts, some of which have ruled clubs are within the quota and others that they are out.

URGE BUILDING AT 22 MENTAL HOSPITALS SOON

Harrisburg, June 14 (P) — A committee of the General Assembly urged new construction at Pennsylvania's 22 mental hospitals "at the earliest feasible time" in line with Gov. J. H. Duff's $80,000,000 expansion program.

The Legislators, who inspected the institutions during the current session, reported that the institutions "without exception are greatly overcrowded," and said:

"The need for new construction is apparent and should be taken care of at the earliest feasible time."

Ask Better Staff
The committee, headed by Chairman Jacob W. Carr (R-Butler) of the Senate Welfare committee, and Chairman Furman H. Gyger (R-Chester) of the House group, told the Legislature in their report, submitted Thurs. night, there is insufficient bed space for the 42,399 patients in the 22 hospitals.

"However," said the report, "this is not the worst feature of overcrowding since in every institution there seems to be a dire need of day rooms where patients for about 16 hours each day are crowded into entirely inadequate rooms."

In specific recommendations the committee urged that "adequate and competent personnel should be obtained at the earliest possible time available" with increased compensation where recommended by the management.

Urge Segregation
Segregation of patients with communicable diseases was recommended, particularly in respect to tuberculosis.

State, school authorities, hospital and other public welfare organizations, the report said, should consider a system of closer co-operation "to the end that discovery of mental illness may be made at the earliest possible time."

"Insufficient attention seems to have been given heretofore to clinical investigation and discovery of new cases before they reached the incurable stage or the stage requiring long periods of time for cure."

ASSEMBLY WILL GIVE FINAL OK ON LABOR BILLS

Harrisburg, June 14 (P) — The General Assembly poised itself today for final passage of a labor program which Republican leaders claim would not curtail collective bargaining powers of unions.

Ready for a vote in both the House and Senate were conference agreements on bills — all with administration support — to bar strikes by public employees, prohibit jobless benefits to strikers and require equal pay for women.

Another Senate-passed measure, banning jurisdictional disputes and secondary boycotts, also faced a vote in the lower branch.

Agreement Reached
Agreement on the three bills comprising the administration program came last night after day-long conferences on disposition of Senate amendments.

Behind-the-scenes opposition was expressed among House members, however, on the conference agreement of legislation sponsored by Rep. Jeannette Dye (R-Mercer) providing equal pay for equal work by women.

One legislator who declined quotation by name, objected to a Senate revision which the conference committee retained to exempt the equal pay provision when agreements to the contrary are reached between an employer and union or with individuals if they are not members of a labor organization.

Three-Member Panel
At the same time, the conferees struck out an upper chamber amendment which would have exempted all employees except those "knowingly and wilfully" disregarding the prohibition against pay discrimination.

Hank Behrman Is Returned To Dodgers

Pittsburgh, June 14 (P) — The Pittsburgh Pirates have returned pitcher Hank Behrman to the Brooklyn Dodgers for a refund not announced but estimated at $50,000.

Pirate General Manager Roy Hamey said Behrman's return was under an agreement made at the time of a deal. The pitcher was part of the "prize package" of five players the Pirates obtained from the Dodgers for a reputed $200,000.

The "package" also included hurlers Kirby Higbe and Cal McLish, infielder Gene Mauch and catcher Homer Howell. McLish was sent to Albany under option. The other three players remain with the Bucs.

Behrman appeared in 10 Pirate games, pitching 24½ innings, allowing 33 hits and 17 walks. He was charged with two losses against no wins.

A $200 daily fine for violations remained in the bill. Speedy approval in both branches was anticipated, however, on a Senate arbitration plan for handling grievances of public employees, including school teachers.

It would set up a three-member panel to hear complaints of employees and the public agency, with authority granted the governor to remedy complaints or ask for corrective legislation if necessary.

The conference group on jobless benefits inserted a provision in the bill to limit the ban on benefits only to those members of labor organizations participating in or directly interested in the outcome of any strike.

Kaiser-Frazer Output At New Peak In May

Willow Run, Mich.—Ending its first year of car production in the black, Kaiser-Frazer Corp. reported this week that output of the Kaiser and Frazer cars in May totaled 10,388 units, a figure which put the Willow Run firm near the top among the nation's seven independent automobile manufacturers.

Edgar F. Kaiser, vice president and general manager, announced that a new daily production high of 583 units was set on May 28 in establishing the month's record. Shipments of Kaiser and Frazers to 4,000 dealers were 11,232 he said.

Kaiser-Frazer is now "definitely operating in the black and report a profit for the month of May," Mr. Kaiser disclosed. The Haller Motors company is the local agency for the firm.

Today's Talk

THE POWER OF SILENCE
The silent man is the one to watch and even emulate. He is usually a thinker and a man of latent power. Marshal Field, who founded the great store in Chicago that bears his name, was known as a man of few words.

The late Henry Ford never gave a public talk that lasted more than a few minutes. The elder J. P. Morgan was also a man of few words—but when, in an emergency, he spoke people listened. This was true of Thomas A. Edison and a host of other great leaders. Words coming out of silence have meaning and portent.

It always takes two to make an argument or a bitter dispute. If one of them refuses to talk the argument or dispute is liable to end then and there. Silence is a powerful weapon to use when unjustly accused. Character is the most potent silent testimony possible.

The silent night is medicine to the nerves, the mind, and to the spirit. Lovers of Nature seek the silence of the sea-shore, the mountains, and the forest. There is no better way to gain one's even keel than to get away from all noise and crowds, and seek the silence of the wide open spaces.

Friends who understand each other need very few words to express their mutual appreciation. Just to be near one who is beloved is both entertaining and joyous contact. The late William Allen White, whom I knew very well over a long period, was not a talkative man, but what a writer he was when left alone in silence to put his words into readable form! Few public men of this time had such a clear and powerful vocabulary. But he was noticeably a great listener when in a group.

Filate, who interviewed Jesus, could not get him into an argument. Jesus stood in silence and "answered not a word." Gen. U. S. Grant was known as "the silent President." Even when Gen. Lee surrendered to him at Appomattox, few words passed between the two, for both were great men—and both Americans. It took very little time for both to come to a peaceful understanding. Gen. Grant's most famous words were "Let us have peace!"

FLAG DAY
Our flag! and flag of all who seek Justice and freedom for the weak! Flag of the best which men have thought,
For which our bravest best have fought,
No tyrant might shall drag thee down,
No whispering voice stain thy renown.

Flag in the blood of heroes signed,
Banner of hope for all mankind,
Riding the winds on land and sea,
Bright emblem of man's liberty,
No tyrant code, no cunning sly
Shall ever tear thee from the sky!

Our flag! The flag of all that's best;
Hope of the weary and distressed;
Staffed at all altars where we pray;
Flag of the grounds where children play.
Our flag, and theirs who would be free,
Never shall shame dishonor thee.

Time To Re-check

I've said it before and I'll keep on saying it as long as it continues to be important to car maintenance—re-check that lubrication chart you are using for your car! It may overlook something. Every now and again an owner finds that there is an oil cup for lubricating the clutch throwout bearing on his car even though most cars have the oilless type. A friend of mine with 25,000 miles on the odometer just discovered that the rear wheel bearings need lubrication. On his car the first step is to remove the plugs on the axle housing. Then a grease nipple is inserted, and only short fibre wheel bearing lube is used. The chart he had been following did not mention these plugs, and of course with many of his friends telling him that rear wheel bearings are permanently lubricated on many cars he naturally felt on safe ground.

Pitfall In Testing
It has become so common to take a compression test of engines many motorists borrow the tester from their neighborhood mechanic and promptly go haywire assuming that the engine needs a quick ring job if compression is low or if it varies widely between the various cylinders. If compression reads normal, all well and good; but if it is low then the next step is to put some oil into the cylinders and repeat the testing. The oil temporarily seals the rings. If compression isn't greatly improved you're right in deciding that the valves are badly in need of major servicing.

Something New In Safety
Way back at the end of World War I a friend and I were hard at work on an automotive safety device which would warn that a car is starting to slow down. We threw out the now commonly used stop-light system because it operated from the brake pedal, arguing that when a driver has started to use the brakes the man behind is getting a too late warning in many cases. Our effort was centered on use of a pendulum and switch, but the mechanism was troublesome. Now after all these years a California company has come forth with a device that probably will revolutionize rear signaling. It operates on engine vacuum. The instant you take your foot off the accelerator pedal the rear signal flashes "slow." Cleverly, however, the device does not function when the throttle is closed during gear shifting. Congratulations to its sponsors for hitting on the answer to a long felt want.

Mechanic Joe Speaking
"When the crankcase collects a lot of dilution most motorists suspect that gasoline is leaking into the pan in some mysterious manner. This usually leads to a conviction that the rings need replacing. For some strange reason few ever consider the crankcase ventilation system. Unless vapors are sucked out of the case there will be excessive condensation and dilution. There may also be foaming of the oil, for if the vents are clogged with oil and dirt pressure will build up inside the case. Those crankcase vents are no mere trills. They should be kept clean. Incidentally, crankcase ventilation works better at road speed, so don't keep your car tied down to town too much."

A number of owners of new cars have been surprised to find that they have not been able to have their wheels and tires balanced because of various changes in rims and wheel trim. The situation has been corrected to some extent by the car makers, but much still remains to be done before tires can have balance protection. Leading difficulty has been use of extra large hub caps and wheel rings. There hasn't been room for the balance weights. On several makes the rims have not been quite wide enough. Efforts to attach weights have resulted merely in having them fly off again. This can be corrected by installing wider rims. Weights usually cannot be attached to the car side of the wheels because of the brake drums.

Always Something New

Traveling always is an eye-opener, but I ran into a new one the other day when watching an owner apply the filling station's air hose to a small chrome covered knob which protruded from the car's body just to one side of the luggage compartment cover. Perhaps you have guessed that this was my introduction to the new remote spare tire inflator. The whole job is done from the outside without the usual bother of lifting the lid and moving luggage. The hole in the body is very small and the inflator cap is an actual addition to the car's appearance. Four feet of hose come with the device.

Keep Them In Mind
One efficient test for the battery is to have a mechanic discharge it. If the battery is discharged at the rate of 300 amperes for five seconds, for example, the voltage should not drop below 4.5. That is, if the battery is in good condition.

Better results can be had when relining brakes, where it has not been possible to resurface the drums, by merely chamfering the edges of the lining. Use a file for this. A 1/32nd-inch chamfer is sufficient to give smoother operation.

How Much A Pound?

When you consider what a pound of grade A beefsteak costs your new car isn't out of line. In fact it is a lot cheaper than common items of the dinner table. One of the popular makes is selling for fifty cents the pound, and if you'll get out pencil and paper you'll find that even the fancy merchandise from Detroit isn't over seventy-five cents. To get the pound weight just find out the delivered price of your car and the total weight. You'll find some interesting comparisons if you're shopping for cars on this basis.

Those of you who give up easily when trouble knocks should have a chance to read my mail and know just how some people extricate themselves from difficulty. One chap cranked his car by removing a rear tire, wrapping a rope around the felloe band of the wheel and then pulling on the lose end of the rope with the car in gear and ignition on. Another couldn't get enough juice from the battery for a start so took out several spark plugs, started the motor because of the greatly reduced compression, and ran it for ten minutes until the battery was strong enough to charge with all the plugs in place.

I don't recommend any of these tricks, because they have their dangers. But maybe they will help you avoid that hopeless feeling when the car threatens to quit.

Asking About Cars
Q. What's wrong when the speedometer doesn't register at all? It indicates a little if the engine backfires H. L.

A. Probably the cable has come loose from the speedometer head. Or the cable may be broken. Anything that jars the speedometer head will cause the pointer to swing away from zero.

Q. I had the brakes relined on a recent trip but this has not stopped the car from pulling to the left when I slow down. The left front drum is not warped or scored. A new retained has been installed and the left front bearing replaced and repacked. J. H. K.

A. A worn left king pin would do this; also a loose brake backing plate. Perhaps the primary and secondary shoes have been reversed. Check the brake line to the right front wheel. If crimped or clogged oil pressure will then go to the left front brake and cause it to pull.

Q. In backing up I hear a pronounced click in the rear of my car. Several motorists have said it is nothing to worry about, but they do not seem to know just what causes it. Can you offer an explanation? A. J.

A. This sounds like a slightly loose rear wheel. Remember that the rear wheels fit on tapered axle ends and that when loose they still are so tight you can remove them without a wheel puller. I wouldn't worry about this one. Have the wheel tightened next time you're in a shop.

Q. I don't seem to get very good control going down hill with my car. Would the fluid clutch account for this? I seem to have to use the brakes too much. The engine skips a bit when running slowly in high W. M. L.

A. Apparently the engine's compression is low. (Please Turn to Page 5)

The name of the new store, which had a formal opening on Saturday, May 13, is "Sweetland." Meligakes also operates a large soda fountain and confectionery store in Westminster, Maryland.

The end came when Carpentier, in breaking from a clinch, drove a sharp right to the point of Lewis' jaw. The Englishman toppled over backward and lay motionless on the floor until the referee counted 10. Then Carpentier picked up his fallen foe and aided in carrying him to his corner.

From the sound of the going to the end of the referee's count two minutes and 15 seconds intervened.

EDUCATIONAL BEGINNINGS

Education does not begin with the primary classes, where children only are admitted. Education has its start when we begin to think for ourselves, when we begin to observe, form opinions, and assert our independence.

Many a man's schooling ended before he had become acquainted with his "teen age." No high school, or college course can guarantee education to a man or woman. Living does that. Many a one has attained eminence without either. The classroom is but a map with the roads marked out. Each one of us must decide upon what road we shall take, and settle upon our destination.

Lessons are illustrated to us along every roadside, upon busy streets, and among crowds. Every new day is a leaf in experience. Every contact the shadow of a thought. Ideas may be kneaded in the manner of the baker who prepares our bread. Education is the process of constantly being led out of ourselves into the ways of the world, and then being useful there.

A person who is master of himself may be called an educated man. He is the one who will venture and take risks. He will banish all fear from his path. He will have faith in himself, and will look forward with confidence. He will demonstrate the substance of character.

Never do any of us become fully educated. It is a life process. Often its beginnings do not appear until the will, the mind, and the heart have become ripe with experience and understanding. Then the flowering begins!

There is no greater lesson to be learned in life than the one of a sense of values—and it should be learned as early in life as possible. Millions fritter away their lives upon details and wasteful enterprises, only to learn, when life is mostly spent, that they missed an early, accurate appraisal of these values. It's the "good name" and the one increasing, useful purpose, that outlive all striving for mere wealth, or personal acclaim.

The one who learns early to help himself has his life alphabet well in hand. Neither Harvard, Yale, nor any other great institution, could offer a better starting point toward an educational career. Such a one will steadily climb—and help many another up as well!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Renew Thyself!"

PARENT SUCCESS

The father little dreamed that he was one whose work the world would see.

The patient mother never knew That all she did the world would view.

Yet in their children, when they'd grown, The glory of their lives was shown.

The lessons which they daily taught Were prompted by no selfish thought:

No gain, except that gain of good Which is the joy of parenthood; One aim behind all hopes and fears:

To have them fit to face the years.

At times, they caught a cheering word

When of their children praise they heard.

And then they smiled, for not by chance

Do children in the world advance.

By love and patient teaching wise To worth and high esteem they rise.

Today where'er their children go Their courage and devotion show. In conduct good 'tis plainly seen: "How fine their parents must have been."

Is often said, "to be so blest!" And that, of all success, is best.

NEW CURES FOR FLU REPORTED BY PHYSICIANS

(Associated Press Science Editor)

Philadelphia, May 14 (AP)—A green and black soil mold that shows promise of furnishing a drug remedy for influenza was announced to the Society of American Bacteriologists here today.

There are vaccines for flu, but no drugs that specifically cure it. The mold shows some specific curative effect on chicken embryos and mice with influenza. It has not been tried on humans.

The report was made by Doctors A. J. Liebman, D. Ferlstein and G. A. Snyder, of Schenley Distillers corporation, Larchmont, N. Y.

The stuff that inhibits the virus that causes flu came from a bit of earth. Just where the earth came from the authors of the report said they did not know. It was one of numerous samples of soil from all over the world. Since the penicillin and the streptomycin now used as drugs came from soil, many laboratories, searching for new wonder drugs, routinely have samples of dirt sent them from all parts of the earth.

Working Day And Night

At the Larchmont laboratories the 47th sample of dirt yielded the mold that seems to produce an antidote for flu. It was named LL47, LL standing for Larchmont laboratories. About 50 research workers are keeping the laboratories going day and night on experiments with the new mold.

The fact that the origin of this mold is not specifically known will make no difference if it should prove a remedy for flu, since cultivation of the original sample would furnish sufficient "seed" for all purposes.

This particular mold is an aspergillus, which grows on grains, fruits and earth. It is sometimes green, sometimes black. There are thousands of different strains of this mold.

Quite different but promising substances that curb flu infection in laboratory, chicken embryos were found in apples, citrus fruits, flax

A third possible flu remedy was reported by A. F. Rasmussen, Jr., Julia C. Stokes, Harry A. Feldman and Joseph E. Smadel, Army Medical Department Research and Graduate school, Washington, D. C. This is a synthetic chemical, with a name requiring 62 letters, four numerals, eight hyphens, two commas and one parenthesis. For short they call it nitroakridin 3582. It has been reported before. But today the Washingtonians reported further progress indicating that it tends to inhibit flu.

EDUCATIONAL BEGINNINGS

Education does not begin with the primary classes, where children only are admitted. Education has its start when we begin to think for ourselves, when we begin to observe, form opinions, and assert our independence.

Many a man's schooling ended before he had become acquainted with his "teen age." No high school, or college course can guarantee education to a man or woman. Living does that. Many a one has attained eminence without either. The classroom is but a map with the roads marked out. Each one of us must decide upon what road we shall take, and settle upon our destination.

Lessons are illustrated to us along every roadside, upon busy streets, and among crowds. Every new day is a leaf in experience. Every contact the shadow of a thought. Ideas may be kneaded in the manner of the baker who prepares our bread. Education is the process of constantly being led out of ourselves into the ways of the world, and then being useful there.

A person who is master of himself may be called an educated man. He is the one who will venture and take risks. He will banish all fear from his path. He will have faith in himself, and will look forward with confidence. He will demonstrate the substance of character. Never do any of us become fully educated. It is a life process. Often its beginnings do not appear until the will, the mind, and the heart have become ripe with experience and understanding. Then the flowering begins!

There is no greater lesson to be learned in life than the one of a sense of values—and it should be learned as early in life as possible. Millions fritter away their lives upon details and wasteful enterprises only to learn, when life is mostly spent, that they missed an early, accurate appraisal of these values. It's the "good name" and the one increasing, useful purpose, that outlive all striving for mere wealth, or personal acclaim.

The one who learns early to help himself has his life alphabet well in hand. Neither Harvard, Yale, nor any other great institution, could offer a better starting point toward an educational career. Such a one will sturdily climb—and help many another up as well!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Renew Thyself!"

PARENT SUCCESS

The father little dreamed that he was one whose work the world would see.

The patient mother never knew That all she did the world would view.

Yet in their children, when they'd grown,
The glory of their lives was shown.

The lessons which they daily taught Were prompted by no selfish thought;

No gain, except that gain of good Which is the joy of parenthood;
One aim behind all hopes and fears:

To have them fit to face the years.

At times, they caught a cheering word

When of their children—praise they heard.

And then they smiled, for not by chance

Do children in the world advance.
By love and patient teaching wise
To worth and high esteem they rise.

Today where'er their children go Their courage and devotion show.
In conduct good 'tis plainly seen:
"How fine their parents must have been."

Is often said, "to be so blest!"
And that, of all success, is best.

Philadelphia, May 14 (AP)—A green and black soil mold that shows promise of furnishing a drug remedy for influenza was announced to the Society of American Bacteriologists here today.

There are vaccines for flu, but no drugs that specifically cure it. The mold shows some specific curative effect on chicken embryos and mice with influenza. It has not been tried on humans.

The report was made by Doctors A. J. Lieberman, D. Perlstein and G. A. Snyder, of Schenley Distillers Corporation, Larchmont, N. Y.

The stuff that inhibits the virus that causes flu came from a bit of earth. Just where the earth came from the authors of the report said they did not know. It was one of numerous samples of soil from all over the world. Since the penicillin and the streptomycin now used as drugs came from soil, many laboratories, searching for new wonder drugs, routinely have samples of dirt sent them from all parts of the earth.

Working Day And Night

At the Larchmont laboratories the 47th sample of dirt yielded the mold that seems to produce an antidote for flu. It was named LL47, LL standing for Larchmont laboratories. About 50 research workers are keeping the laboratories going day and night on experiments with the new mold.

The fact that the origin of this mold is not specifically known will make no difference if it should prove a remedy for flu, since cultivation of the original sample would furnish sufficient "seed" for all purposes.

This particular mold is an aspergillus, which grows on grains, fruits and earth. It is sometimes green, sometimes black. There are thousands of different strains of this mold.

Timely And Modern Suggestions Presented By Builders And Contractors

NEW KITCHEN DESIGN SAVES TIME AND STEPS

Modern design is recognizing that to the home maker the kitchen is probably the most important room in the house. In recognition of that fact, today's kitchen is being streamlined in efficiency and appearance to save the housewife needless steps, time and effort, and to make it a more pleasant place in which to

Zone Control For Heating In Homes

Window drafts, changes in wind, door openings, and the varying effect of solar heat, which tend to counter-act indoor comfort attained in the home through a basic warm air heating and air conditioning system can be compensated for through the use of a zone control system.

Mechanically operated, the zone control system can control independently the air conditions in one room or a section of the home without affecting the air conditions in other zones. Zone control systems and devices are being made more generally available for all types of shelters.

The straight-line production technique of modern industry is being utilized. Equipment and cabinets are arranged so that the groceries can be unpacked, stored, cooked, served and dishes put away after a meal in a steady flow of one-way effort. Needless retracing of steps is avoided.

In general, there are three basic plans: the straight wall or corridor type and the L and U-shapes. The arrangements of the basic equipment units of sink, stove and refrigerator to wall space determine the selection of the plan. All three lend themselves to straight-line operations and can be made to include either separate or integrated dining space.

The cabinet units can be purchased ready made or they can be made to order by a carpenter or cabinet builder.

The composition of the walls and ceilings are important to kitchen satisfaction since they are subject to severe moisture conditions. An excellent material for finishing new kitchens or remodeling old ones is asbestos cement board. It comes in large, smooth surfaced sheets which can be applied easily to new framing or right over the old walls and ceilings. Besides having moisture resistance, asbestos board is fire-proof and durable, for it contains nothing that can rot or decay.

NUMBER OF GAS HEATED HOMES UP 15 PER CENT

The number of homes heated by gas increased 15 per cent in 1946 following a steady increase in the use of gas as a heating fuel during the war and pre-war days, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Gas heating equipment is extremely compact and thus makes full utilization of space in basements or utility rooms possible. A gas boiler, either hot water or steam, for an average size house takes little more space than a refrigerator.

Recent developments in gas equipment take into full account the trend toward smaller homes. Some of the new compact gas-fired hot water and steam boilers are particularly adaptable to installations in utility rooms or kitchens in basementless houses.

Used In Radiant Heat

Aside from the operating controls, a gas burner has no moving parts. Gas burners are quiet in operation and relatively long in service life.

Conversion burners, with complete automatic controls, can be supplied for the changeover of equipment originally installed to utilize other fuels. Heating contractors will advise homeowners whether existing boilers will burn gas economically and are properly sized for the heating load.

Gas is being widely used in connection with radiant heating by means of pipe coils in the floors, ceilings, or walls.

All gas burning equipment should bear the seal of approval of the American Gas Association. This seal is evidence that the model has been tested in the association's laboratories and meets National standards for safety.

Hardwoods Meet Vital Floor Need

The ideal flooring material for homes and many other types of buildings should possess a high degree of abrasive resistance, yet be "soft" enough to permit restoring the floor to its original beauty after years of use.

Such natural products as oak and other hardwoods fulfill these requirements admirably. Their abrasive resistance is sufficient to make them virtually indestructible under severe use. Having characteristics that cannot be duplicated by man-made products, they can be readily reconditioned to look like new after years of hard wear. The cost of such reconditioning is moderate.

REGULAR CLOSET CLEANING

Don't forget to clean your closets regularly. With a special equipment that came with your vacuum cleaner you can whisk the dust off the shelves in no time. After you have taken the dust off the floor use the blower attachment to freshen the whole closet.

Insulating Board Can Brighten Walls

Interesting and attractive walls and ceilings for children's rooms can be easily applied with decorative insulating board. The various sizes and colors make possible an infinite variety of effects.

The sound quieting qualities of insulating board products are another factor recommending their use for this purpose.

HEAT LOSS IS FOUND COSTLY

American homes owners lose millions of dollars annually, it is estimated by heating authorities, because they do not properly guard their homes against unnecessary heat wastage.

Unused fireplaces, for instance, let a good deal of heat escape up the chimney. This loss can be reduced merely by cutting a screen of insulating board to fit snugly across the fireplace opening. The screen thus made can be painted or otherwise decorated to harmonize with the room plan.

Considerable heat is lost through window areas. In some rooms not much can be done about it beyond the usual measures of installing storm windows and pulling the drapes whenever possible. The cellar, however, is another matter. Many, if not all, of the basement windows will never be used during the winter months. Heat loss at these points can be minimized by wedging pieces of insulating board into the openings.

At times as many as 125,000 Moslems have visited Mecca in a year.

INDIRECT WATER HEATING COSTS ARE FOUND LOW

The low cost of heating water indirectly by means of the same boiler which heats the house has been disclosed by an investigation made by the Engineering Experiment Station of the University of Illinois. The tests were carried out in the IBR Research Home located just off the campus of the university.

An oil-fired boiler was used in the tests which extended over a period of two years. The boiler was used with an indirect water heater connected to a horizontal, insulated 30-gallon storage tank.

During the heating season, when the boiler supplied both heat and domestic hot water, the average daily fuel consumption chargeable to supplying 50 gallons of 150 degree water daily was 0.36 of a gallon of oil. This represents a monthly oil consumption of slightly less than 11 gallons.

In the summer, when the boiler was used to supply hot water only, it was found that approximately 1.4 gallons of oil per day were required to supply 50 gallons of 150 degree water daily, representing a monthly fuel consumption for summer operation of 42 gallons.

Assuming operation during a heating season of eight months duration, and four months of summer operation, the annual cost of heating domestic hot water drawn at the rate of 50 gallons daily, with oil at 8 cents per gallon, is $20.40 per year or $1.70 a month.

It was found that omitting the insulation from the piping between the indirect water and the tank will increase the fuel consumption 20 per cent.

'ENGINEERED' HOMES MAY CUT BUILDING COSTS

The men who make and sell building materials are ready for practical tests of a plan for "engineered" houses, which they believe will reduce substantially the costs of new houses.

Joint sponsors are the Producers Council, National Organization of Building Product Manufacturers, and the National Retail Lumber Dealers association, reports the Associated Press.

Tyler S. Rogers, council president, said the plan combined for the first time most of the known and tested money-saving methods in house building.

Eliminate Waste

All dimensions of structure and materials are engineered to multiples of a four-inch "module," or unit, eliminating waste since materials can be pre-cut to fit requirements exactly.

While the principles of the engineered house are designed to be adaptable to any residential unit built on a similar modular plan, the council and the association have obtained from leading architects basic designs for seven houses, with one to three bedrooms.

Actual construction tests will soon be under way on one of these houses, a one-bedroom structure which the council said was aimed at the lowest "practical" minimum that could retain lasting value, and was designed "for the veteran who wants a livable home at minimum cost."

Save Time Too

This house will be erected in both frame and masonry construction at a leading midwest university, where research experts will study assembly methods step by step and make modifications wherever savings are apparent.

Dudley T. Colton, Johns-Manville corporation research supervisor, who is chairman of the council's committee on construction methods, believes the demonstrated saving in man-hours will be appreciable.

Harry C. Plummer, chairman of the council's technical committee, said use of modular brick and tile ultimately should result in saving 20 per cent in masonry costs.

The present house plans use a "domino" arrangement. This means basic domino-shaped units of set size, each comprising around 400 square feet, are employed in any arrangement desired, such as an "L" pattern all on one level, one domino set on top another, etc.

Quiz Suspect In Child's Slaying

Collegeville, Pa., May 14 (AP)—State Police Sgt. E. K. Pote said two policemen went to Union City, N. J., today to question a man in connection with the slaying of five-year-old Carol Ann Thompson of nearby Lansdale.

Pote said probes are handling numerous reports of persons seeing a short blond man with wavy brown hair, the description broadcast of the man who lured Carol Ann to her death Saturday after pushing off her brother, William, 6, on a downhill wagon ride. The child's battered body was found in a well six miles away.

State police and Montgomery county detectives said they would continue to examine a Phoenixville, Pa., man described by District Attorney Frederick B. Smilie as a trustee of the Huntingdon Industrial school who served a term for a sex crime. He is one of several queried this week.

Divided Basement Is Home Asset

A basement divided into appropriate work and play areas is an asset to any home. Partitions can be easily made with simple wooden framing to which large sheets of insulating board are applied. There are several advantages to using insulating board.

It is a building material that is its own insulation, possesses sound quieting qualities, eliminates the need for additional decoration and can be applied quickly with simple hand tools.

Uniontown, Pa., May 14 (AP)—Franklin township school board announced raises of $300 to $500 a year for 18 teachers, bringing the salaries of all faculty members to at least $2,100.

RED PATTERN IS SEEN AGAIN IN BULGARIA

By GLENN BABB
(AP Foreign News Analyst)

The Communist program in Europe appears to be developing along two principal lines. East of the ideological front that splits the continent, movements are afoot to complete destruction of what little opposition has been permitted to survive. West of the line there is a drive to splinter the parties adjacent to the Communists in the political spectrum and to draw from them segments of sufficient size to give the Reds the dominance they now approach but have not yet achieved.

Bulgaria furnishes the latest example of the eastern campaign. The Communist-dominated National Assembly has expelled 23 Agrarian members, followers of Nikola Petkov, now in jail charged with plotting against the regime. These 23 formed the hard core of the united opposition. According to the law they must be replaced by 23 men of the same party who were unsuccessful candidates in last October's election. But even if the letter of the law is honored, it is easy to believe that the 23 new Agrarians will not be unacceptable to the fatherland front government.

Thus the pattern followed in Hungary is seen again. There the Communists have managed to split and effectively destroy the Smallholders party which stood in their way. In Bulgaria the same fate seems in store for the Petkov Agrarians, who held 86 seats out of a total opposition of about 100 (in a House of 465 members). The difference is that in Hungary it was a ruling, majority party that was swept aside; in Bulgaria it was a relatively weak minority. The revolution already had proceeded much further in Bulgaria.

That was natural. Bulgaria lay much closer to the center of Communist power. It had a racial affinity to Russia. And it has been taken over by perhaps the most experienced and able of Moscow's pro-consuls, old Georgi Dimitrov himself, onetime secretary general of the Third International. Bulgaria has become a show model of Communist methods. The country has been as neatly regimented along Soviet lines as any outside the Soviet Union itself.

There have been many signs that this purge was coming. None of the three chief opposition papers has been publishing since early May. The Agrarian organ ceased publication May 7 because of conflict between the editorial and mechanical staffs, an indication of Communist domination of labor organizations. In Parliament government leaders, including Dimitrov himself, long have been threatening suppression of the opposition as "traitors," "foreign agents" or "international reactionaries."

Wife Collapses As Jury Frees Husband

Pittsburgh, June 14 (AP)—Frank Super, 32-year-old steelworker, acquitted of a felonious assault charge in the maiming of his wife still awaits action on a surety of the peace indictment growing out of a March 14 shooting.

Mrs. Florence Super, 31, mother of Super's three small children, collapsed on hearing a jury pronounce her husband innocent yesterday and sobbed.

"He walks out of here a free man while I am crippled for life with three babies to take care of," Mrs. Super's right leg was amputated after a shotgun blast struck her in her Penn township home. She had testified she was shot while fleeing the house after a quarrel. Super, however, denied quarreling and said the gun was fired accidentally.

GARDEN DAYS AT STATE COLLEGE

Annual Garden Days at the Pennsylvania State college will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, June 24, 25 and 26, Miss Mildred Tomblor, county home economics extension representative, said today.

"There are numerous women in Adams county who, having lovely grounds and gardens, would want to take this opportunity of attending one, two or three of the State Garden Days," Miss Tomblor asserted.

"An innovation this year is a flower show which will be held in White Hall. Rules and regulations and classes can be gotten at the Agriculture Extension office.

"Tuesday's program includes speakers on Unusual Table Settings, Pruning of shrubs and tours of the college campus and flower gardens and the flower show. Wednesday offers outstanding speakers on the outdoor living room, house plants, maintenance of a productive soil and lawn, what's new in horticulture, staging a flower show, perfection in flowers and plant ecology," Miss Tomblor said. "Thursday includes topics on vegetables for the amateur, stump the mossbacks and last year's chairman will close the program for the year.

"Arrangements have been made for rooms in Frances Atherton hall. Single or double rooms for ladies may be had for $1 per night per person and each individual will furnish her own towels, face cloth and soap. Meals will be served cafeteria style for $1.50 to $2.00 per day at the Sandwich shop in Old Main.

"Reservations for rooms or meals or both must be made by June 15th. Please specify the nights you desire room reservations. Your reservations accompanied by a $2 deposit should be sent to Sam Altmore, Department of Horticulture, State College.

"If you and your friends are planning to drive to State College take Route 22 from Harrisburg to Lewisburg and Route 322 from Lewisburg to State College. If you have room in your car for someone else in the county or if you are interested in attending and have no possible transportation call or write Miss Tomblor, Court House, Gettysburg. Anyone driving who would like to meet Miss Tomblor's car should arrange to meet at the Court House at 8 a. m. Tuesday."

TRUMAN WOULD KEEP CONTROLS ON TIME BUYING

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, June 14 (AP)—You want to buy something on time? Now the government lays down the rules on how you do it.

For example:

On things like autos and refrigerators you must pay one-third of the value down and the balance within 15 months.

There's a chance the controls may be removed altogether. Should they be? President Truman says no. He argues this way:

Goods still are not plentiful enough to meet full demand. Even so, installment buying is increasing. And

The more that kind of buying increases, with goods still not plentiful, the more the tendency for prices to rise. He wants prices kept down.

Opposition Argument

The opposite argument comes from Rep. Wolcott, Michigan Republican and chairman of the house banking committee:

The controls work against those people who haven't been able to save enough money to make a fair-size down payment. For example: Now a man who wants a $1,500 auto must pay one-third down, $500, and the rest in 15 months. But a man who hasn't saved $500 still could buy a car if the down payment were smaller and the time for the balance was longer than 15 months.

In 1940, before the controls, total consumer credit was $9,153,000,000. In 1946, with the controls in effect, it was $9,958,000,000.

President Roosevelt, under his wartime powers, imposed the controls in 1941 to control prices a bit. President Truman has continued them.

But should such controls, with the war over two years, be continued by presidential wartime power alone?

Mr. Truman thinks not, even though he wants them continued. This week he asked Congress to continue them by passing a law.

Crash Safely But Face Takeoff Trouble

Ligonier, Pa., June 14 (AP)—Two vacationing fliers today wondered how they would get their crashed and damaged light plane back into the air after a landing on the grounds of famed Rolling Rock club here which bruised the men and crumpled the craft's landing gear.

John B. Lidback, of Lisbon Falls, Me., and J. S. Lewis, of Tulsa, Okla., were attempting to land yesterday to examine maps during their Oklahoma to Maine flight when the plane struck a fence post and slammed into the ground.

Previous owners, forced down on the Rolling Rock property, were compelling to dismantle their chips and remove them by truck.

CHRISTENING

New York, June 14 (AP)—A small mammal officially opened the small mammal house at the Bronx zoo yesterday.

A kinkajou named Jimmy, chewed a chocolate cookie to which were tied ends of a white ribbon stretching across the entrance. The ribbon fell to the ground, the newly modernized building was open.

TEACHING YOUR DOG TO "RETRIEVE"

Making Your Dog a Better Citizen

by Tom Farley

Your dog having learned to pick up, carry and give the dumbbell he may now be taught to fetch it. Holding him closely at the heel position as shown (picture 1) toss the dumbbell a few feet away. Then at the command "Fetch", and only then, motion him forward to pick it up (picture 2). If he fails to take it tell him to "Take It" and bring him back to you (picture 3).

Make him sit at the "Rover Come" position before taking the dumbbell from him so that he will learn to offer it in this way (picture 4). If he tends to drop it put your hand under his chin and make him hold it. When he will work the length of the leash toss the dumbbell a greater distance, going with him and then backing up (picture 5) to your original position before letting him present it to you. Only when he shows no signs of failing should the leash be removed (picture 6).

You have now taught your dog the basic commands but making him a really good citizen depends on your making him live up to his training. If you relax he will very soon realize that strict compliance is unnecessary and the training will have been wasted. Watch his diet, to make sure that he receives balanced rations, insist that he live up to his training and show him a little affection and you will have a healthy, happy dog and a good citizen.

This is the last of a series of picture articles on dog training featuring Frances Hartsook, nationally known trainer, photographed and prepared in a campaign to make dogs better citizens. The lessons must be studied from the beginning to be effective. If you missed any of the articles we suggest that you purchase the back issues so that you have the complete series. (P-D Photos) to the late Charles Bitinger with the agreement that Wolf remain on the farm, pay $50.40 yearly rental, and keep up the taxes and fire insurance. Bitinger also gave Wolf an option to buy the place back for $940, according to the testimony.

In the fall of 1945 Wolf went to the plaintiff, and an oral agreement was reached whereby Howard Wolf was to advance the money needed to get the property back for his brother, and the plaintiff testified that he turned over a total of $1,442.80 to Swope, Brown and Swope which was paid to J. Francis Yake, Jr. Bitinger's attorney.

The plaintiff charged that Washington Wolf failed to give a judgment note or mortgage for the amount, as agreed upon in the oral contract, and suit was brought for the amount allegedly loaned.

Howard Wolf, plaintiff, was represented by Attorney Richard A. Brown. The defendant, Washington Wolf, was not represented by counsel, and defended his own case before the court.

Accident Cases

Two cases growing out of an automobile accident on Route 01034, one mile north of McSherrystown, on September 1, 1946, were placed on trial following the Wolf vs. Wolf case.

In the first case, Bernard E. Small,

New Oxford, sued Leroy Shanesbrook, Gettysburg R. 5, for $5,000 damages, including personal injuries, medical expenses, damage to his automobile, loss of use of the car and loss of wages.

In the second suit, Roy D. Shanesbrook, father of the defendant in the first case, sued Small for $496.85 for damages to the automobile. Small was represented by the law firm of Bulleit and Bulleit, and the Shanesbrooks were represented by Attorney Daniel E. Teeter.

If Stomach Gas or Sour Food Taste Robs You of Sleep

Here's How You May Help,
Whether You Eat 500 Pounds or 2000 Pounds of Food
In a Year

You can't feel cheerful, be happy and sleep well, if your stomach is always upset. As age advances the "old stomach" needs more help. The reason is this:

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains very special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with over-doses of soda and other alkalis to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

'ENGINEERED' HOMES MAY CUT BUILDING COSTS

The men who make and sell building materials are ready for practical tests of a plan for "engineered" houses, which they believe will reduce substantially the costs of new houses.

Joint sponsors are the Producers Council, National Organization of Building Product Manufacturers, and the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association, reports the Associated Press.

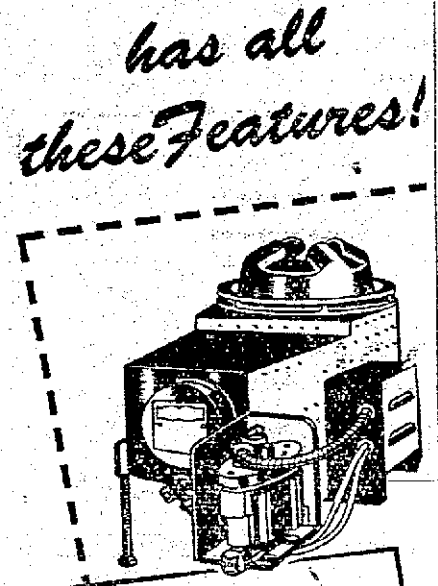

Tyler S. Rogers, council president, said the plan combined for the first time most of the known and tested money-saving methods in house building.

Eliminate Waste

All dimensions of structure and materials are engineered to multiples of a four-inch "module," or unit, eliminating waste since materials can be pre-cut to fit requirements exactly.

While the principles of the engineered house are designed to be adaptable to any residential unit built on a similar modular plan, the council and the association have obtained from leading architects basic designs for seven houses, with one to three bedrooms.

Actual construction tests will soon be under way on one of these houses. A one-bedroom structure which the council said was aimed at the lowest "practical" minimum that could retain lasting value, and was designed "for the veteran who wants a livable home at minimum cost."

Save Time Too

This house will be erected in both frame and masonry construction at a leading midwest university, where research experts will study assembly methods step by step and make modifications wherever savings are apparent.

Dudley T. Colton, Johns-Manville corporation research supervisor, who is chairman of the council's committee on construction methods, believes the demonstrated saving in man-hours will be appreciable.

Harry C. Plummer, chairman of the council's technical committee, said use of modular brick and tile ultimately should result in saving 20 per cent in masonry costs.

The present house plans use a "domino" arrangement. This means basic domino-shaped units of set size, each comprising around 400 square feet, are employed in any arrangement desired, such as an "L" pattern all on one level, one domino set on top another, etc.

Quiz Suspect In Child's Slaying

Collegeville, Pa., May 14 (AP)—State Police Sgt. E. K. Pote said two policemen went to Union City, N. J., today to question a man in connection with the slaying of five-year-old Carol Ann Thompson of nearby Lansdale.

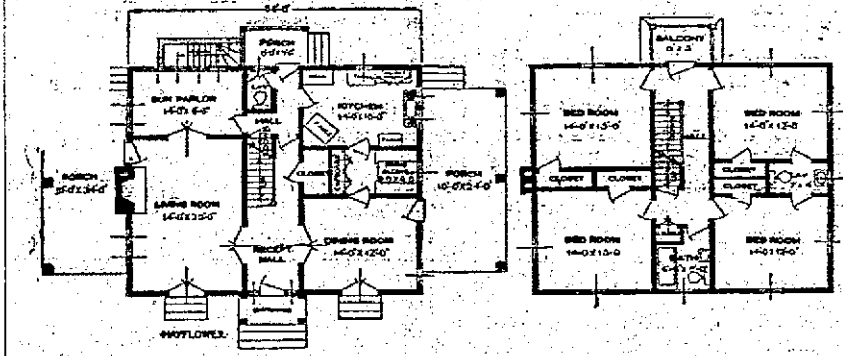

Pote said probers are handling numerous reports of persons seeing a short blond man with wavy brown hair, the description broadcast of the man who lured Carol Ann to her death Saturday after pushing off her brother, William, 6, on a downhill wagon ride. The child's battered body was found in a well six miles away.

State police and Montgomery county detectives said they would continue to examine a Phoenixville, Pa., man described by District Attorney Frederick B. Smilie as a trustee of the Huntingdon Industrial school who served a term for a sex crime. He is one of several queried this week.

BOARD ELECTS SCHOOL NURSE; SPECIAL CLASS

Students in the Upper Adams County Joint School district are going to have religious education, special education and nursing service the joint board decided.

Meeting Friday night at Biglerville high school the board elected Wilma MacBeth as school nurse and will elect another if the state legislature adopts a proposal to give reimbursement for two nurses.

They decided to have a special education class and directed Supervising Principal Leslie V. Stock to interview applicants for the position.

Board members pointed out that there are a number of students in the district who are above or below average in intelligence. "These students are not given the advantages they should have under the ordinary school system," one member said. "Some of the youngsters might be excellent as carpenters or artists, or musicians, but just can't get the instruction given in mathematics, or other subjects. And then there are some brilliant youngsters who can loaf through their classes, because the classes are designed for the average, and they pass with high marks and don't get as much out of school as they should."

"Opportunity Class"
As a result the board voted to have an "opportunity class." Where the class will be held will be decided after a census is taken of the students. If there is room at Arendtsville the class will be held there. If there is no room available a temporary building will be erected. Only one class will be started this year.

Favor Religion Class
Religious education should also be given in the joint district schools, the board members decided.

Professor Stock explained: "I'm as much in favor of religious education as you are. In fact I'm chairman of the committee for religious education in this section. But the whole thing really is up to the minister or the Sunday schools. Under state law our teachers can not teach religion in the schools. We give school time for classes in religious instruction. Each parent must agree that his child is to have the instruction and if a parent forbids such instruction then we have to have a program for the youngsters who are not attending the religious classes."

"The big problem so far has been to obtain someone to teach the classes. In some sections the preachers teach and it works out very well. In others the Sunday schools pay someone to teach the classes, which also works out well. I hope the minister will be able to do this."

BONNEAUVILLE RESIDENT WEDS

Miss Gladys Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Smith, Bonneauville, and Dale Felix, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Felix, Gettysburg, were united in marriage at a nuptial mass at 8 o'clock this morning in St. Joseph's church, Bonneauville, by the Rev. Fr. Leo Krichen. The double-ring ceremony was used.

Attendants were Miss Helen Smith and John Smith, sister and brother of the bride. The latter wore a white satin and net gown with princess bodice, high neckline, long, pointed sleeves and train, with a fingertip veil and crown of shells, and carried pink and white roses and a pearl rosary, the gift of the groom.

Her sister wore a light blue-satin and net gown also in the princess style, with short veil, and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

After the ceremony a breakfast for the immediate families was held at the Hotel McAllister, Hanover. A reception will be held in St. Joseph's school hall this evening. Mr. and Mrs. Felix will reside at the home of the groom in Gettysburg.

Casts Only Vote Against "Dream" Road Extension

Francis Worley, Adams county's representative in the General Assembly, cast the only vote against the extension of the Turnpike when the state house of representatives in Harrisburg passed the measure Friday by a vote of 203 to 1.

Despite the overwhelming sentiment in the house in favor of the measure Mr. Worley voted "no" when his name was called on a roll call vote.

The Turnpike Commission is now empowered to extend the "dream" road from its eastern terminus near Carlisle to Philadelphia.

EAGLES DEFER ACTION ON NEW PLAY PROGRAM

A special committee appointed several weeks ago, by Gettysburg Aerie No. 1562, Fraternal Order of Eagles, to investigate and report on a proposed new recreational program for the town, was reappointed at Friday night's meeting of the lodge, but no action was taken toward the appropriation of funds to finance the new program.

Two weeks ago the committee, after attending several meetings and reporting its findings, was discharged, with the thanks of the organization. At Friday night's meeting, the proposal was again brought up and discussed. The consensus of opinion was that the aerie would like to know more of the plan and its organizational setup before appropriating money for it, but the door was left open for future consideration of a donation.

Committee Appointed
Members of the committee appointed Friday night by Retiring President C. David McCullough to meet with the recreation program committee if and when requested are Carleton H. Poole, Mervin Crouse and Horace Bender.

Other business transacted by the lodge Friday night included the donation of $50 to the Gettysburg Fire company, and the installation of new officers. It was also voted to hold meetings once a month during June, July, August and September, with the next meeting scheduled for July 11.

The following officers for the ensuing year were installed by District Deputy Bernard Selby of Littlestown: president, Albert Hawn; vice president, Lester Oyler; past president, C. David McCullough; conductor, Francis Stevens; chaplain, Hersh Lauver; inside guard, Harry Pfeffer; outside guard, Emory Strausbaugh; secretary, John Storm; trustee, for three years, Jacob Wright. The term of Secretary James B. Aumen did not expire this year.

The following are delegates to the state convention, to be held in Philadelphia June 26, 27, 28 and 29: George March, Harvey Yingst, Mervin Crouse and C. David McCullough.

Auxiliary Donates To Girl Scout Fund

Members of the auxiliary of the Adams County Fish and Game association, at a meeting Friday night in the engine house here, voted a cash donation to the Girl Scout drive. Mrs. Ivan Breighner, president, presided. Fifteen members were in attendance.

A social hour followed the business meeting and refreshments were served. Hostesses were Mrs. Hobson Crouse and Mrs. Annie Cunningham.

The next meeting of the auxiliary will be held September 5, in the form of a picnic for members and their families at National Museum park.

57 GUARDSMEN BRAVE RAIN ON 'LAST MISSION'

Fifty-seven members of the local State Guard unit Friday night met at the armory for their last meeting after four years of service to the community.

They came dressed in fatigues, raincoats and helmet liners to pick up their submachine guns, shotguns and other weapons; to make final adjustments to their armored cars, motorcycles and jeeps, and then headed into the rain for their final mission—an encampment at Harrisburg.

Today they will drive their armored cars through the streets of Harrisburg in the last parade of the State Guard, which goes out of existence today after four years of duty as the state's security force.

Return On Sunday

Sunday morning the local men will return home after having turned in their armored equipment at Harrisburg. They will march Monday evening in the Flag Day parade here and will turn over their flags to the newly organized National Guard. Wednesday evening they will conclude their activities with a banquet at the Hotel Gettysburg. During the banquet the men will be presented with their discharges.

The state guard at its peak had a strength of 5,700 officers and men. Today 1,500 were at Harrisburg for the final review.

ENGAGE BUSES TO TRANSPORT STUDENTS HERE

The Fairfield, Liberty and Hamilton township school boards will jointly hire a bus to transport approximately 45 high school students from the three districts to Gettysburg high school beginning in September.

Meeting Friday evening at Fairfield, the three districts arranged their bus schedules for the coming year for high school students with the students divided between Washington Township high school and Gettysburg.

A bus driven by Leroy Sheads, Fairfield, will carry approximately 50 high school students from Hamilton and Liberty township to Washington township. The contract was let by the two boards jointly.

Ask For Bids

The bus driven by Fred T. Naugle, Orrtanna, will continue to carry 36 Hamilton township students to Gettysburg high school and bids are being asked for the third bus to transport students from all three districts to Gettysburg. The advertisement for the bids will appear in The Gettysburg Times Monday.

Under the plan outlined Friday night the Hamilton township high school students will ride in the elementary buses to the schools in that township. There they will be picked up by the bus and brought to Fairfield. At Fairfield the Liberty township and Fairfield high school children will be picked up by the bus which will then continue to Gettysburg. The Liberty students will be brought to Fairfield by the elementary buses of that township.

During its 40-mile-per-day trip the bus operated by the three districts to Gettysburg will pick up 20 Fairfield students, 16 Liberty township students and between 10 and 12 Hamilton township students.

Cullison was arrested and fined $10 and costs Thursday night.

Find Air Liner Wreckage On Mountain; 50 Are Lost

Leesburg, June 14 (AP)—The wreckage of a Capital Airlines plane carrying 50 persons was found today on top of Blue Ridge Mountain about 15 miles northwest of Leesburg.

James Franklin, director of maintenance for the airlines, who sighted the wreckage from a search plane said there appeared to be "no hope of anyone being alive" after the crash.

The plane disappeared in a rain-storm late yesterday shortly after making a routine radio contact with a station at Martinsburg, W. Va. It was bound from Chicago to Washington, D. C.

Franklin said that he had found the wreckage "just about exactly" where he had expected it to be. He said he had followed the pilot's radio messages and projected flight plan to reach the spot.

"Its position appeared to be directly on the course," he said.

It was the third disastrous wreck of a DC-4 airliner in the last three weeks.

Franklin placed the scene of the disaster five miles directly west of the little mountain village of Hillsboro, Va., a few miles from the West Virginia state border.

Asked by reporters whether there was any sign of life, Franklin replied: "No. I don't see how there could be."

Franklin's plane was the only search craft that got into the air because of poor flying conditions. He took off from an airport at Winchester, Va., flew over the Blue Ridge, spotted the wrecked airliner and then proceeded to Leesburg.

Franklin said "it looks as though it (the plane) exploded and was torn all to pieces."

He said the wings were imbedded in the mountain top. The Blue Ridge rises to a height of approximately 1,600 feet from the Shenandoah Valley at that point. An air lane beacon is located near the place where the plane crashed.

Search parties composed of volunteers, airlines employees, and Virginia police had hunted fruitlessly throughout the night for the missing plane.

Aboard the craft on its Friday

Two Gettysburg youngsters, nine and 11 years old, had narrow escapes from death or serious injury Friday when one of the boys discharged shotgun in the bathroom of a South Fifth street home. The charge went through the floor, according to borough police, who investigated.

"It is the old story of leaving firearms where children can get at them," Harpster said.

One of the boys took the shotgun, loaded it, and pulled the trigger. The mother of the boy in whose home the shooting occurred was away at the time and the boys were alone, Harpster said.

Relics Of Stevens' Day At Caledonia Restored

Caledonia State Park, officially recognized by Pennsylvanians as its No. 1 forest park and unofficially acclaimed by nature lovers and recreation seekers from near and afar as an unsurpassed "retreat" in this area from the hustle and bustle of modern life, may play host to more visitors this year than ever before in its history.

T. G. (Tom) Norris, of Fayetteville, R. D. 1, who supervises activities at Caledonia in conjunction with his duties as Michaux district forester, predicted today that if present trends continue throughout the remainder of the summer season the park will close its books this fall on its most successful season.

Mr. Norris' prediction should not be taken lightly, in view of Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters estimates that as high as 1,000,000 people have visited or passed through the nearby State park in single seasons in years past.

Completed Last Fall
Already a nature lover's paradise, Caledonia park has undergone improvements during the past year that will be pleasing not only to the naturalist's eye but also to those who delight in delving into local history.

Through a careful management of the not-too-generous appropriation allocated by the State last year for park improvements, Forester Norris succeeded in creating one of the most eye-pleasing scenic spots in the expansive forest and park preserve. Not only does the project enhance the scenic beauty of the park, but it will serve as a reminder of the efforts of Thaddeus Stevens and others to develop the area into a profitable iron producing center.

The major park improvement project, completed late last fall, turned water from the Conococheague creek into the bed of a quarter-mile long race constructed by Thaddeus Stevens in 1837 to furnish water power for his then prosperous iron works. The race bed, located along the western end of the popular park trail known as "The Ramble," had been dry for the past 50 years.

WORLEY LEADS OPPOSITION TO JUDGES' RAISE

Francis Worley, Adams county's representative in the General Assembly, took the floor in the House at Harrisburg Friday to voice opposition to a bill boosting judges' pay 13 to 20 per cent. The bill later was passed by a vote of 157 to 19.

He assailed the bill as a "lavish waste of public funds and a drain on the public treasury."

Representative Worley said the pay increase contributes to "a government by the people, of the politicians and for the big-shots."

After passage of the judges' pay bill, Representative Worley told newspapermen that, in his opinion, legislators are "the puppets of judges."

He is an Attorney
Worley, an attorney, said he is not a member of the Pennsylvania Bar Association which sponsored the pay increase measure. He added, however, that he is a member of the American Bar Association.

Efforts to reduce the judicial salary increases to a flat 10 per cent failed when the bill was passed on second reading in the House Thursday after one and one-half hours of debate.

The bill was returned to the Senate for concurrence on House amendments correcting portions of the proposal, which would have given jurists only the amount of the increases, rather than the increases plus their present pay.

Presides Over House
This fumble in the bill was discovered in the House after the measure had passed the Senate. The bill was reportedly written by "legal lights" for the Bar Association.

Later the Senate approved the changes and sent the bill to Governor Duff.

During Friday night's busy session, Mr. Worley was called upon by Speaker Franklin H. Lichtenwalter to preside over the House during a brief absence of the speaker from the assembly chamber. It was the first time since Mr. Worley went to Harrisburg that he wielded the gavel as the House's presiding officer.

Award Stars, Letters
Stars and letters were awarded to a number of seniors who received the highest number of points for scholarship and activities. Chenille gold stars and chenille letters were awarded to Mary Winter Long, Robert Lee Baumgardner and Mary Margaret Flery. Those receiving gold stars and letters were Robert Morris Gillelan, John M. Fuss, Jr., Mary Ellen Lively, Hazel Eva Glackens, John David Arnold and Frances Margaret Linn.

The graduation exercises, opened with a professional followed by "If I Could Tell You" and "Serenade" sung by the glee club under the direction of (Please turn to Page Two)

3 TEACHERS SELECTED AT NEW OXFORD

Because of the increased enrollment in the New Oxford Junior-Senior high school next year, the board of education has found it possible to increase the teaching staff on the basis of the teacher-pupil ratio recommended by the state Department of Education. Principal Ivan R. Mechly announced today.

Martin G. Flegal of Altoona, has accepted a position as boys' physical education teacher and coach, and Miss Marjorie Dunmyer of Johnstown accepted a similar position for girls some time ago. Miss Dunmyer graduated from the Pennsylvania State college this spring. While in college she participated in a wide variety of sports in addition to those pursued in her course of study.

Flegal is an ex-service man who received his B.S. degree in physical education at the West Chester State Teachers' college. Before entering the service he coached football, basketball and baseball in the Curwensville high school. He is married and has a daughter who will begin school this fall.

New Home Ec Teacher
Miss Mary Mellinger, Stewartstown, has accepted the position as vocational home economics instructor to replace Mrs. Marion Gotwalt who resigned to accompany her husband to Philadelphia where he has registered as a student in a school of dentistry.

Miss Mellinger graduated from the Indiana State Teachers' college in May. While in college she was active in the YWCA, the Women's Sports club, and served as president of the Home Economics club the first semester of her senior year and as vice president of the vocational home economics fraternity. She did her practice teaching in the schools of Windber. Miss Mellinger has spent several days in New Oxford and vicinity with Mrs. Gotwalt visiting the girls who are working on summer projects in home economics.

The position of supervisor of vocal music remains to be filled. Mrs. Vesta Cook, who had charge of that work the second semester last term, asked to be released because of a throat condition. However, she will remain on the faculty as an English teacher.

With the exception of Mrs. Anna G. Blair, who consented to serve as a temporary teacher the second semester last year, all other faculty members have signified their intention of returning to their positions in September. Mechly said.

A. P. Markel, a former member of the board of education, was appointed to replace R. Stoner Welty at the regular meeting of the board on Thursday evening.

Eagles Donate $250 To Girl Scout Drive

Gettysburg Aerie No. 1562, Fraternal Order of Eagles, Friday night joined the list of contributors to the county-wide campaign to raise money for the Girl Scouts, by voting a contribution of $250.

James B. Aumen, veteran secretary of the Eagles, read a letter from the Girl Scout campaign committee, and took the lead in endorsing the drive.

"This is one of our most worthy causes," Secretary Aumen declared. "I believe that we should give generously to it. We have contributed, in the past, to the Boy Scout movement and other drives. This is the first time that the Girl Scouts have asked us for funds. I hope that this lodge will give generously."

Others joined Mr. Aumen in praising the work of the Girl Scout organization, and Mervin Crouse made the motion that the aerie give $250. It was immediately seconded, and adopted unanimously.

READERS LIKE PATTERNS FROM TIMES SERVICE

During May readers ordered 241 patterns, and 22 fashion books. These can be ordered by writing to the Pattern department of The Gettysburg Times, 121 West 19th street, New York 11, N. Y. Under no circumstances should orders or inquiries be addressed to The Times' Gettysburg office.

File Seniority List

The high school and elementary principals were named on a 12 months basis with two weeks vacation each year. The supervising principal's clerk and high school principal's clerk authorized by the board are also engaged for 12 month periods as are the janitors.

Chapter 25

When Martina received the letter from James Morgan of the advertising agency that handled the contracts for Van Loretto's orchestra, she thought, "This is what I've worked for and wanted for a very long time!"

The elation passed as she thought of Dan the evening before, standing by the piano in this very room, his eyes filled with a very real unhappiness, saying, "I'm afraid I just couldn't take it, Martina!"

Poor Dan! Their marriage had been so unfair to him up to now! She recalled, perhaps for the first time with vivid clarity, the way she had turned from him to Graddy in her hour of need. Her breath caught on the realization of how he must have felt—on their very wedding night!

She could not give up Dan and her marriage, she loved him so dearly! But oh, this other lovely, exciting, beautiful thing! To really be able to sing one's heart out! The applause, the satisfaction of doing a job well, were really secondary as compared with the delight of just—singing!

She put down the letter and went to the piano, her hands drifted over the keys, then she began to sing. The golden melody poured into every corner of the old house, like liquid sunshine. Mrs. Allerton going about her tasks, stopped to listen, her breath caught in her throat. Martina sang on and on—drifting from one song to another, running the whole gamut of her repertoire, and when at last her hands fell into her lap, there were tears on her cheeks. For her singing had been a manner of renunciation.

She wandered through the rooms of the house, on out into the garden where the late summer sun had coaxed a riot of blossoming.

The outlines of the old stone house rose in sturdy strength, a symbol of stability and steadfastness of spirit. Martina felt conviction growing in her mind until it became decision. At last she rose and went back into the house.

It did not take long to get Mr. Morgan on the phone and when she told him she could not consider the audition she knew that he meant it when he said he was deeply sorry. Now that the decision was made she felt a lifting of her spirits and went to sit almost contentedly working at her hooked rug frame. When regrets arose she quickly stifled them.

The telephone rang and almost wishing she did not have to, she went to answer it. Graddy's voice, in which exasperation and triumph struggled for supremacy, came to her.

"Martina, I did not know you could be such a little fool!"

She laughed a little. "You know about Mr. Morgan's letter?"

"And also your refusal. Cliff Neale called me. It's a good thing for you that you've got somebody to act for you when you're out of your mind!"

"Just what do you mean by that?"

"Simply that I guessed the truth at once! That that precious husband of yours, with his unspeakable pride and vanity, had persuaded you not to take the audition!"

"But how could he? I just received the letter this morning and Dan knew nothing about it. Graddy, you didn't—?"

"I knew at once that Dan Holloway had let you know how he felt, and by George, I was right!"

Her heart leaped into her throat as a coldness that was part fear, part blinding anger possessed her. "How—how do you know, Graddy?"

"I made it my business to see your husband. Had no trouble in making him see just what he was doing to you, either!"

"Graddy, you didn't dare! You couldn't!"

"But I did. Why shouldn't I? Who has your interest more at heart than I? Then I called Morgan, told him you'd changed your mind and asked him to hold the spot for you. He was quite willing so you're to come up tomorrow—!"

She sat utterly still, scarcely believing Graddy's words. She began to cry softly in desperation.

Graddy almost shouted. "Martina! Are you still there? Darling, say something!" An edge of fear shook his voice a little.

"There isn't anything to say, Graddy. You seem to have fixed everything!"

"You—you're not crying, are you Martina?"

"I'm afraid so, Graddy!"

"But—but you're pleased! You must be! You've wanted this chance for a long time, we've worked hard for it, you and I. Martina, surely you've reconsidered after thinking it over! I counted on that. You'll come up for the audition!"

"No, Graddy. I won't come."

"What!?" A complete silence tingled along the wires between them. Finally Graddy's voice came again. "You—you mean that, Martina?"

"Absolutely, Graddy, please get this straight—I've thought it all over, naturally, and you've got to believe that I'm entirely capable of running my own life. I love Dan Holloway better than any career, any fame, any chance to sing that will ever come to me—and if accept—"

"Any of these things means losing him, it's absolutely out! Now listen, Graddy, I really mean this. And if you interfere any further I'll not only resist it deeply—as I do this—but it will have to mean the end of our friendship. I'm sorry, Graddy, Goodbye."

She hung up and turned away from the phone. She was trembling, her heart crying out against this thing that Graddy had dared to do to Dan. What must he be thinking? If he believed Graddy—and of course he did, since it fitted in so perfectly with his own thinking—then she had already lost him. She might even, conceivably, never see him again!

At that thought she rose and fear lending speed to her feet, she ran to tell Mrs. Allerton that she would be gone the rest of the day, and taking her car headed toward town.

Chapter 26

Arne Amory was not only surprised but definitely annoyed when Sofia, her maid, stuck her head fearfully into the work-room to announce that Mr. Graddy Hueston was waiting in the living-room.

"Drat the man! Coming here interrupting my working hours! Well, I suppose I'll have to see him. Tell him to wait, Sofia, but don't make him too comfortable!"

He was standing by the window looking out in the gradually darkening summer day and there was such a dejected droop to his shoulders that Anne felt a sudden unexpected surge of sympathy. After all, any one who looked as completely love-lorn as Graddy was sure to appeal to Anne Amory. She said, pleasantly enough, "Well, Graddy, this is a surprise. To what do I owe the honor of this visit? Not a sudden interest in my welfare, I'll warrant!"

He turned and the pain in his eyes stopped any caustic remark she might have intended. "I've done it, Anne—deliberately pushed Martina completely out of my life!"

She did not answer for a moment, then offered him a cigarette, took one herself and said, "Sit down, Graddy. Maybe we'd better talk about this."

He sprawled in the big chair by the empty fire place, but for a time he seemed in no mood to go on with his talk.

Anne said, "Pardon me, Graddy, but it seems to me you should have come to that conclusion—to put Martina out of your life—except as a friend—on the day she married Dan Holloway. But you didn't, did you? You held on to the belief—and the hope—that the marriage wouldn't work. That when and if it did fail, she'd come to you!"

He nodded. "I always felt it wouldn't last. You see I didn't count on the fact that she'd give up everything for him!"

"What has she given up, specifically?"

He explained briefly the offer she had had and her refusal to even audition for the job. He told how he'd seen Dan Holloway and of his call to Martina. He left nothing out, apparently getting a grim satisfaction from repeating the very words that had cast him out of her life.

Anne said, "It's hard to believe, Graddy—that you actually had the nerve to interfere so deeply. But, then you've always thought it behooved you to manage Martina's affairs. Svengali to her Trilby, I once described you to her. But this time I'd say you're gone too far!"

He said fervently, "You're telling me!"

"Why did you come here?"

"Frankly, now that I'm here, I don't know. I may have had some idea of asking you to persuade Martina to change her mind. Actually, I suppose it's because I have the utmost respect for your judgment."

She raised her eyebrows, completely surprised and somehow touched. "Well, thanks! I had no idea you valued my opinion. In fact I'd have said you disliked me as much as I've always disliked you!"

He nodded honestly. "There's been no love lost between us. But," he smiled a little wily, "in my heart I guess I've always thought you quite a gal! Now, instead of employing you to intervene with Martina, which I'm convinced would do no good anyway—I'm simply asking you to tell me—what am I going to do with my life, Anne?"

She said reflectively, "That's a rather large order, Graddy. Why should you have to do anything? You have a fine profession in which you stand at the very top. You have many friends—"

"All of which adds up to absolutely nothing if the one you love doesn't love you!"

"Which," she reminded him with her startling grasp of the truth, "is apparently the way Martina figures too!"

"Yes, I suppose you're right."

She rose and paced up and down the room. He went to stand again at the window. She said finally, "It comes to a question of just what you want, Graddy. Martina, herself, or her supreme happiness which you must believe Dan Holloway alone can give her."

He wished she wouldn't put it so very bluntly. "Of course," he said at last, "you know what I must answer to that. I love Martina enough to want her to be happy—even with—with him!"

"Then you'll have to make up your mind to let them alone! To maybe never see them again!"

He was shocked at her words. "But Martina's always depended on me!"

"She mustn't any more. You mustn't give her another chance to."

ASKS WHETHER TEACHERS GIVE 'FULL VALUE'

State College, Pa., May 13 — Teachers may be underpaid, but there apparently still is some question whether the public is getting full value for the money it now pays to teachers.

Urwyn Rowntree, associate professor of industrial education at the Pennsylvania State college, agrees that teachers, in general, are underpaid and need adjustments to offset the cost of living, but, he asks, how many will examine closely just what that payment is for and do teachers check whether they are giving full value for the salary received?

The job of a teacher can be divided into four general categories, Rowntree says. They are instruction, guidance, administration, and professional, or growth in service.

Up To Teacher

The first three of these, the Penn State professor points out, are achieved to a great extent in teacher education institutions. But growth in service can only be attained within the hearts and performance of each individual teacher.

"In order to be worth their salary and of greater service to students, teachers should be sensitive to local, state, and national issues," Rowntree says. "They should know leaders in their fields, keep abreast of their field, participate in professional organizations, have and hold to a code of ethics, and keep up with literature within their own field."

"In times such as these, when teachers are justifiably requesting additional remuneration for their work," Rowntree says, "they have a responsibility of seeing that the services they render are worth the money received."

Orders Destruction Of Slot Machines

Pittsburgh, May 13 (AP)—Declaring "slot machines are illegal," Judge Henry Ellenbogen Sunday handed down an opinion in which he said he would order 12 seized coin devices "forfeited and destroyed."

The machines were taken last month in raids made by the district attorney's office.

Judge Ellenbogen's opinion said in part: "Especially obnoxious are these gambling machines when located near schools where children and teen-agers congregate. The

She must depend solely and completely upon Dan. Don't you see it's the only way, Graddy? If you continue to interfere—it will be the same thing over again, only growing worse all the time!"

"Then what should I do?"

"You have to decide that. If you really want to show your love for her, you'll go away for a long time."

He said, "I've been asked to come to London to speak before a world conference on the possibility of an international alliance by which music could be used to promote good will among the nations. I hadn't even thought of accepting, but now—"

"It's a perfect solution!" she cried. "Graddy, don't you see—it not only means that you're leaving Dan and Martina free to work their own destiny, but you're opening up a whole new life for yourself! A life that may be of incalculable service to others! In the end, that's always the answer, my friend!"

He smiled a little. "You never called me that before."

She held out her hand with a straight-forward gesture. "I do now. Somehow I believe that through the years we'll be that to each other, Graddy."

His fingers clasped hers. "It's a mighty fine assignment, Anne. Thanks for your generosity. Yes, I'll go to London—but you'll write me, won't you? You'll tell me—"

"What ever I can about Martina that may interest you. You'll let me be the judge of that?"

"Of course so. This, is goodbye, Anne. I may not see you before I sail."

Hollywood News

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood (AP)—Two new Hollywood marriages are getting off to a good start with the understanding that although the wife makes more money, the husband is the boss of the family.

June Haver, one of 20th-Fox's biggest names, recently married Jimmy Zito, a struggling young bandleader. Nancy Guild, who has been boosted to top rank at the same studio, wedded Charles Russell, a lesser name at 20th. Both girls are determined to make successes of their marriages in a town where divorcees are as common as convertibles.

The Russells hope to maintain their marital serenity by keeping their screen careers apart. They are currently working together in "Off to Buffalo," in which Nancy will get higher billing than her husband.

"We don't want to work again in the same picture," Charlie said.

"Then," Nancy chimed in, "We will see each other at the end of the working day like normal couples."

The pair's current housing exemplifies their attitude. Nancy, used to the family home in Los Angeles and ranch in Arizona, has moved into Charlie's small apartment. They share the housekeeping duties.

With their professional worlds further apart, the Zitons may face a greater problem in preserving their marriage. But June is determined to do it. Said she:

"Our crowd is not the 'Hollywood gang.' We do not go to those parties you read about. We'd rather be at home, or go to plays or concerts. We want to stay clear of the Hollywood society that does so much to ruin families."

The couple is currently living with June's mother, and they have plans to build their own house some day. But rest assured, it will not be the Hollywood variety with hit and cold swimming pools and ermine-lined tennis courts.

All movie fans who prefer the program of one good picture and short subjects to the tedium of a double bill will be heartened by news from United Artists. While other companies are slashing their short production because of higher costs, UA is instituting a shorts program. This will include the antics of Woody Woodpecker and his colleagues, travelogues by John Grierson, Canadian film man, and musical subjects by Werner Janssen, famed conductor.

A'S COME FROM BEHIND, BEAT FELLER 7 TO 6

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Hats off to Mr. Connie Mack, the grand old man of baseball.

The 34-year-old gentleman, now in his 47th year as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, is quietly answering his critics by giving the Athletic fans the best brand of baseball they have seen in more than a dozen years.

His much maligned Mackmen have won six of their last eight games, including a 7-6 conquest of the mighty Bob Feller and the Cleveland Indians last night.

Mr. Mack has been the target of much abuse in recent years. He has been accused of conducting a minor league club in a major league.

Disgruntled fans who had been loyal to the A's for years finally began to stay away from the park. For the first time in nearly 20 years, the Phillies outdrew the A's last year, attracting 1,045,247 fans to 621,793 for the A's.

They expected to see the same old feeble A's again this year. And for a while it appeared they were right for the Mackmen dropped 10 of their first 14 games, but a close look at the results showed that the A's were giving every club a tussle. In only two games this season were the A's decisively beaten.

Homer For Chapman

The A's had to come from behind twice last night to win, scoring the deciding runs in the seventh when Sam Chapman followed a homer off Feller with his own four master with a man on base.

The Detroit Tigers retained their one game lead over the Boston Red Sox by shutting out the Washington Senators 8-0 before 17,933 Capital city fans in a night game. Hal Newhouser, who had not won a game since he pitched a shutout opening day, ended his four-game losing streak by blanking the Nats with four singles.

The Red Sox continued their upsurge by hitting their seventh game in their last eight starts, trouncing the Chicago White Sox 19-6. Ted Williams made two of the Red Sox' 18 hits, both homers.

Aided by four home runs, three of them in succession in the sixth inning by Charlie Keller, Joe DiMaggio and Johnny Lindell, the New York Yankees opened their home swing with a 9-1 triumph over the St. Louis Browns.

Led by their first base rookie sensation, Earl Torgeson, the Boston Braves defeated the Chicago Cubs 7-4 to move within a half game of the National League leading Bruins. Torgeson hammered in five runs on two doubles, a single and his eighth homer of the season. Southpaw Warren Spahn, although needing the help of Anton Karl in the sixth, was credited with his fifth win.

Cards Are Blanked

The St. Louis Cardinals found their home field no different from other parks this season as they were blanked by Lefty Dave Kosio who pitched the New York Giants to a 5-0 win with a neat two-hitter. The losing pitcher was Howie Pollet, who dropped his fourth game in five decisions.

With the aid of five walks in the third inning, the Cincinnati Reds scored four times and went on to defeat the Brooklyn Dodgers 7-5 in a night game in Cincinnati. The Dodgers, who used 20 players including six pitchers, almost pulled the game out of the fire by scoring three runs in the ninth but Harry Gumbert fourth Cincinnati pitcher, replaced Clyde Shoun with two out and the bases loaded and whiffed catcher Bruce Edwards to end the game.

The scheduled Philadelphia-Pittsburgh game at Forbes field was postponed by rain.

Game Tonight On High School Field

Gettysburg and Cashtown of the South Penn Baseball League will play off a game here this evening that was postponed from May 4 due to rain.

The game will be held on the high school diamond and will start at 6 o'clock. Ken Knox, manager of the local team, announced this morning.

The Moose tabbed five runs in the first inning and retained a comfortable lead throughout. Clapper, McSherry and Baitzley each collected three hits for the winners.

The Elks were forced to forfeit a 9-0 decision to the Acme at high school when they were unable to field a full team by the starting deadline for the opening game.

A brief shower caused postponement of the games listed for the Codori field. The Highway was leading Knox's store 3-0 in the third inning when the rain halted activities.

MAROONS LOSE TO ST. FRANCIS

St. Francis Prep, after two previous unsuccessful attempts, finally defeated the Gettysburg high school nine on the local field Tuesday afternoon 4-2. The defeat marked the second for the Maroons against three victories.

A three-run uprising by the visitors in the fifth inning wiped out a Maroon 2-0 lead.

Coach Shoemaker's lads tabbed a run in the first inning on singles by Hershey and W. Bucher coupled with a wild pitch.

In the third inning Hershey led off with a triple and scored on J. Breen's error of Benner's drive.

In the fifth St. Francis put the game on ice. With one out Foizey fanned but was safe on an error. C. Long followed with a single and McNeils was hit by a pitched ball. J. Breen doubled to drive in the runners.

Another run came in the sixth last night.

Two of the judges split their decisions and the third voted for a draw. Fontaine, who has signed to meet the NBA lightweight champion, Ike Williams, in a non-title bout May 26 at Philadelphia, had trouble with Rafferty's jolting left jabs, and dropped points in the fifth and seventh for low punches.

Milwaukee, May 14 (AP)—Juste Fontaine, 140-pound Milwaukee lightweight, failed to avenge his seventh round knockout at the hands of Doll Rafferty, 138, of Milwaukee, last year as the two fought to a 10-round draw before a capacity crowd at the Milwaukee auditorium.

Orttanna Defeats Granite Nine 5-2

Orttanna defeated Granite Station 5-2 in a baseball game Tuesday evening at Orttanna, the game being called in the sixth inning due to rain.

C. Heyser hurled for Granite with T. Sanders and F. Heyser receiving. K. Deardorff pitched four innings for Orttanna with E. Rebert hurling the fifth. John Wetzel was the catcher. H. Deardorff, first batter for Orttanna, hit a homerun in the opening inning.

A return game will be played at Granite next Tuesday evening.

SPORTS Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, May 14 (AP)—Possibly Adm. Jonas Ingram, the new all-America football conference commissioner, is an optimist; possibly he just doesn't know what's been going on in pro football. . . . At any rate, his ideas about speeding up grid games should be applauded. . . . "I think we can speed up the average game as much as 15 to 25 minutes by snappy officiating," the commissioner said the other day. . . . He'll really have to get some sprinters in there, because the National League's Shorty Ray has spent years studying how to play football games faster and Shorty figures he's lucky if he can shave a couple of minutes off the playing time. . . . But Ingram also remarked that he didn't see much football during the war and he never had any interest in the pro game until a few years back when he saw the Philadelphia Eagles play games. . . . The guy has a lot to learn, but you can bet that he will learn it.

DOWN WENT GINTY

Chuck Ginty of Blackstone, Mass., high school, struck out 23 batters and allowed only two hits against St. Mary's of Milford, Mass., the other day and managed to lose the ball game, 8-6. . . . A sample of what happened to Chuck—in the first inning he fanned five guys, but the catcher couldn't auld the ball and St. Mary's scored a run. . . . And that ain't all—in three games, Ginty gave up nine hits and fanned 84 and lost two of the three. . . . Wouldn't

SPORTS BEFORE YOUR EYES

Hilda Chester, the mechanical "Veece" of Brooklyn, and her cowbell turned up at the Polo grounds the other day. If Hilda really has deserted the ferocious gentlemen, they're sunk. . . . Big Tom Sheehan, Notre Dame catcher who never has hit below .349 in college baseball and is around .500 this season, is drawing a lot of attention from major league scouts. . . . When Mel Patton met Herb McKenley at 220 yards in that Southern California-Illinois track meet last week, Herb's teammate Bill Mathis, was so confident that he bet McKenley's pants on the race, Jim O'Reilly won them and gave them to Patton as a souvenir of his great 20.4 second dash.

Just Received A Roll Of INLAID LINOLEUM

CARDS SHUTOUT BUMS; GIANTS SECURE COOPER

(Associated Press Staff Writer)
One by one the groggy St. Louis Cardinals are dragging themselves off the floor and shaking the cobwebs out of their brains.

Harry (the cat) Brecheen and Enos Slaughter never went down but the others have been rocking back on their heels since mid-April. The latest to recover is George (Red) Munger who has bounced back from a wobbly start to hobnob with the pitching leaders.

Manager Eddie Dyer must have been doubly shocked by Munger's failure for last fall, during the world series, he openly stated that he expected the red-haired young Giant to be a 20-game winner in 1947.

Red won his first start on the second day of the season but he couldn't get home first again until May 23, that May 23 win was a good one, a 2-0 shutout over Pittsburgh and he hasn't been beaten since. Last night he had a 2-0 whitewash job against the Brooklyn Dodgers, who still are regarded by the Red Birds as "the team to beat." Before the game Owner Sam Breadon had assured the players the club would not be sold and Manager Eddie Dyer would not be fired.

Announce Trade
The New York Giants were idle but the league leaders contributed the biggest news of the day, a pitcher swap with Boston by which Bill Voiselle and an unnamed sum of cash went to the Braves for Mort Cooper. Thus the old Cooper brothers battery, Mort and Walker, was re-united. Neither Voiselle, who has been in manager Mel Ott's doghouse, nor Cooper, who has had arm trouble, have been effective this season.

The Braves' Red Barrett, like Munger recovering from early difficulties, backed up his fifth straight win, throttling Pittsburgh, 6-2, in the opener on Boston's second western tour. The result, and Brooklyn's night loss, moved Billy Southworth's men into third place.

Cubs Nip Phils
Chicago elbowed into second place, a half game back of the Giants, by a 4-3 edge over Philadelphia.

With Detroit's night game in Washington rained out, the New York Yankees blew a chance to close in on the American league leaders when they bowed to the St. Louis Browns, 4-3, in 10 innings at the Yankee stadium.

Boston's Red Sox dedicated their new lighting system with a 5-3 victory over Chicago before a capacity crowd of 34,510.

Bobby Feller took over the strikeout lead with 87 and posted his eighth win but required relief help from Ed Killeman in pitching Cleveland to a 5-4 night game decision over Philadelphia.

BALLOTING FOR ALLSTAR LINEUP

Chicago, June 14 (P)—With nearly two weeks of balloting left before the midnight deadline June 26, the New York Yankees, Cleveland Indians and Detroit Tigers each had two front-runners in the All-Star baseball poll for American league starters.

In selections by fans at 193 centers, the New York Giants and Philadelphia Phils also had two men as first choices for the National league starting lineup come game time July 8 in Wrigley Field.

The Yankee selections were George McGinnis at first base and Joe DiMaggio in center field. For Cleveland, Joe Gordon topped the votes at second base and manager-player Lou Boudreau at shortstop. Detroit's best representatives were George Kell, third base, and Pat Mullin, right field.

Leading the national league selections for first base and catcher were the Giants' Johnny Mize and Walker Cooper, respectively. Emil Verban of Philadelphia topped the second base selections and his teammate, Harry Walker, led the center fielders.

Enos Slaughter of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals continued as the leading individual vote-getter in the National league after the first week of balloting. He topped his left field rivals with 27-128. Mize is second highest on the nominations with 26,942.

Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Joe DiMaggio remained the biggest favorites in the entire poll. Williams has been named on 34,337 ballots for left field and DiMaggio on 32,644.

COL. WINN IN HOSPITAL
Chicago, June 14 (P)—Col. Matt J. Winn, 85 year old nationally known turkman and Kentucky Derby impressario since 1902, was in St. Luke's hospital today suffering, said a physician, from "possible early pneumonia."

Attendants at the hospital said this morning that Winn, who was removed to the hospital from his Drake hotel residence yesterday in an ambulance, was "resting comfortably."

In the symbolism of heraldry, argent—white or silver—is the color of faith and purity.

Tomasic Blanks Allentown Cards

(By The Associated Press)
"Handy Andy" Tomasic, of the Trenton Giants, had a five and nothing pitching record today, the "five" representing Interstate league wins, after goose-egging the league leading Allentown Cardinals 12 to 0 on two scattered hits.

Last night's win was the 13th in 16 starts for the Giants, currently the hottest team in the circuit. Tomasic fanned 17 men to run his season's strikeout total to 80.

In other games the York White Roses defeated the Harrisburg Senators 10 to 3 and the Sunbury Yankees and Hagerstown Owls battled to a 2 to 2 tie before being halted by rain at the end of six innings. The Wilmington at Lancaster game was postponed because of rain.

York's win was the third straight for the White Roses. Ronnie Cook turned back the Senators with five hits, one of which was a home run smack by Whitey Greifzu.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, June 14 (P)—Since taking the British Women's Golf title, Babe Didrikson Zaharias has a chance to score a "grand slam" almost as impressive as Bobby Jones' by hurrying a little, she can return in time for the second National Women's Open Tourney at Greensboro, N. C., June 26-29, and she likely will defend her United States amateur title at Detroit in September.

The last time Babe was beaten in a golf tournament was in the Women's Open at Spokane last August. . . . British writers who have been comparing Mrs. Zaharias with Joyce Wethered, another golfer who hit a ball "like a man" and turned in strictly masculine scores, may be consoled by recalling that Joyce won the British women's title four times and was runner-up once, took the English Ladies' Championship five times in a row and soundly trounced a lot of American girls when she visited this country.

FATHER'S DAY
A Michigan State U. athlete was consulting the dean recently about dropping a course from which he had taken too many cuts. . . . The athlete explained: "While my wife was having our second baby, I had to stay at home to care for our other child. I missed so much work that I'd like to drop the course."

SHORTS AND SHELLS
Louisiana State's Bernie Moore and Clyde Littlefield of Texas are being mentioned as possible coaches of the 1948 Olympic track team. . . . The Hialeah horse racing strip has been planted in cow-peas this summer and Everett Clay figures the gardeners soon will be picking vegetables instead of winners. . . . After a look at the photo, no doubt. . . . Prexy Frank Lane's speed-up program has clipped 12 minutes off the average time of American Association ball games. That's about the time required to get a hot dog from the average grandstand vendor.

Ben Hogan has been driving with his brassie in the Open Golf Tourney because he never has found a satisfactory replacement for the driver he busted in Miami. . . . Wonder how about a replacement for Smiley Quick's putter?

GIANTS TRADE VOISELLE FOR MORT COOPER

By RALPH RODEN
New York, June 14 (P)—Morton Cooper, mainstay of three St. Louis Cardinals pennant winning teams, was back with a first place club today—the National league's front-running New York Giants.

The big rightshander, who starred with the Redbird champions of 1942-43 and the circuit's most valuable player in 1942, was obtained by the Giants yesterday from the Boston Braves in a deal that sent Pitcher Bill Voiselle and cash to Boston.

Currently leading the circuit by a half game, the surprising Giants have been looking for a route-going rightshander all season as Rookie Bill Ayers and Voiselle have failed to come through while Larry Jensen has been erratic. The brunt of the right-handed mound chores so far has been borne by Clint Hartung, reconverted outfielder, and relief specialist Ken Trinkle.

To Pitch To Brother
Cooper has been plagued by arm trouble since 1945 and hasn't been of much use to the Braves this season. He has a record of two wins as against five setbacks.

Although the veteran hurler had the same trouble last year and didn't look like the Cooper of old until late in the campaign, the Giants are gambling that he regains his old effectiveness.

Then again, with the Giants, Mort will be pitching to his Brother Walker who was behind the plate during his pennant-winning years with St. Louis.

Walker was purchased January 5, 1946 while still in the navy from the Cards for $175,000—one of the highest straight cash deals in major league history.

ST. LOUIS MATCH IN FINAL ROUND

By JERRY LISKA
St. Louis, Mo., June 14 (P)—The most unpredictable of modern National Open Golf championships today went into its final 36-hole round with Kansas farmer Dick Metz and Michigan's Chick Harbert sharing a leadership threatened by no fewer than 10 title-hungry rivals among the 75 under-par 139's.

It made little difference that Metz, who also operates out of Chicago, and Harbert, from Northville, Mich., claimed a share of the 72-hole meet's halfway record with three-under-par 139's.

The pace-setting duo held only a one-stroke margin over slim Lew Worsham, from Oakmont, Pa., and were but four strokes ahead of the 11th and 12th title prospects, Ed (Porky) Oliver, Wilmington, Del., veteran, and little-known Alfred L. Smith of Danville, Va.

Sandwiched between were top amateur Marvin (Bud) Ward of Spokane, Wash., Henry Ransom, transplanted Texan from Ravinia, Ill., and big Jim Ferrier of Chicago, deadlocked at 141; and a quartet of 142 shooters—pre-meet favorite Bobby Locke of South Africa, Sammy Sneed of Hot Springs, Va., Harry Todd of Dallas, Tex., and Johnny Palmer of Baden, N. C.

The St. Louis country club has a 72-hole par of 284, three strokes over Ralph Guldahl's 1938 open record of 281.

Not one of the dozen championship possibilities in the $10,000 meet which pays $2,000 to the top professional ever has won an open title, although Metz, who went over par just once in compiling 69-70 rounds, was runner-up to Guldahl in the 1938 renewal.

TEACHERS' PAY GETS FINISHING TOUCHES TODAY

Harrisburg, June 14 (P)—Senate and House education leaders got together today to put the finishing touches to the administration's $173,000,000 school plan setting up a new $1,950 to $4,000 mandated pay scale for Pennsylvania's 58,000 school teachers.

Working at top speed in face of the waning hours of the 1947 Legislature, the lawmakers sought to smooth out what Sen. Paul L. Wagner (R-Schuylkill) said were "rough spots." He added, however, the overall plan "will stand as is."

The bill, passed by the Senate by a 43-4 vote last night despite last-ditch Democratic objections, would establish a scale of $1,950 to $3,400 outside Philadelphia and Pittsburgh and one of $2,175 to $4,000 in those two cities at an increased cost of $46,000,000 in the next two years.

"Magnificent Progress"
Teachers with standard certificates would start at $1,950 in 2nd, 3rd and 4th class districts and at $2,175 in the state's two major cities, while the minimum for college trained instructors would be $2,000 and $2,200 respectively. At present, the statewide minimum is $1,400.

The measure also would increase state grants from a minimum of $600 to $700 a teaching unit with the maximum climbing from $1,800 to $2,200. Grants would increase in subsequent fiscal periods as mandated annual increments become effective.

Asserting that more than a third of Gov. James H. Duff's $140,000,000 in new taxes will go for teachers' salaries, Wagner told the Senate during a two-hour debate last night the school pay measure represented "magnificent progress" and fulfilled a Republican pledge "to the fullest extent possible with the money available."

Hectic Journey
On the other hand, Sen. John H. Dent, minority floor leader, asserted "this bill does not do what it is supposed to do. I don't believe the teachers will be satisfied; they felt they were going to receive a minimum salary somewhere around $2,500."

Calling the measure which he and only three colleagues voted against "a patchwork job," Dent said "there must be equalization of standards both in the payment of teachers' salaries and the education of our children."

Originating as the salary plan of the Pennsylvania State Education Association with a starting salary of $2,400 and a top of $5,400, the so-called House bill 417 has had a hectic journey through the Legislature.

Senate Defeats Bill On Cigarette Sales

Harrisburg, June 14 (P)—Splitting party lines sharply, the senate today defeated by a 26-20 vote a house-passed measure which would have prohibited the sale of cigarettes below cost.

Sen. John H. Dent Democratic floor leader, led protests against the bill, saying it was "a price fixing measure as it would fix minimum prices."

"I don't believe Pennsylvania has the right to fix prices," Dent continued. "It would be in restraint of trade."

Sen. O. J. Tallman (R-Lehigh), the Republican floor leader, contended that the Commonwealth's mercantile business proprietors must be "protected from people

REJECT BILL TO GIVE GROCERS BEER PERMITS

Harrisburg, June 14 (AP)—The Republican majority, at an early morning caucus, lasting several hours, turned down today a proposal to license grocery stores for off-premise sales of beer.

The plan, included as an eleventh-hour amendment in a House-passed code of the state's liquor laws, later was sent back to committee—an action making enactment of the proposed code impossible at the 1947 session if present adjournment plans are carried out.

"There were a lot of good features in that bill," commented Sen. John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland), Senate minority leader, referring to a change in quantities of beer that may be sold and permission for appeals to the state Superior Court in liquor cases.

Opposed By Wets And Drys
The code which had a stormy career through the Legislature was sponsored by Reps. Elwood Turner (R-Delaware) and Harry O'Neill (D-Lackawanna). It passed the lower branch by a controversial provision for an 18-month moratorium for clubs from the state's liquor quota, later stricken out in the Senate.

Vigorously opposed by both wets and drys, the proposal for off-premise sales of beer would have permitted the licensing of food or food product stores doing at least $4,000 annually. Chain stores, however, would have been limited to one license in state.

At the same time, the House moved near a vote—possibly only if final adjournment is postponed beyond tonight—a separate Senate-approved bill to exempt only posts chartered by nationally recognized veterans' organizations from the quota law for an 18-month period starting September 1.

Sent To "Grave"
Other measures returned to committee and a legislative grave would have:

Allowed municipalities to collect sewer rentals for plans and construction before actually giving service.

Authorized development of plans for a state frequency-modulation radio network for non-commercial educational programs operated by the Department of Public Instruction.

Required compulsory revocation of the licenses of operators convicted a second time of drunken driving.

Faces Murder Count For Slaying Woman

Shamokin, Pa., June 14 (AP)—District Attorney Harold A. Bonno said he was prepared today to file a charge of murder against Paul Sabo, 34, of nearby Bear Valley, in the slaying of one woman and wounding of another.

Bonno said Sabo would be charged with murder in the death of Margaret Zanders, his sister-in-law. He added another charge of aggravated assault with intent to kill would be filed against Sabo in the wounding of Mrs. Magdalene Zanders, 64, his mother-in-law, and mother of the dead woman.

The women were found yesterday at Mrs. Zanders' home here after Sabo walked into the state police barracks here, laid a gun on the desk and calmly told state policeman Warren Thoma, "I just shot two women," the officer reported.

Thoma found the daughter dead with a bullet wound through the head and the mother in a critical condition with a bullet wound in the abdomen.

Change Name Of New Soft Drink Imposé

Harrisburg, June 14 (AP)—Pennsylvania's new soft drink tax will be an excise levy as soon as Gov. James H. Duff approves a bill amending the 14-day old impost.

The measure was adopted 34-15 by the Senate last night only a little more than a week after it was proposed by the Republican majority in face of pending court litigation attacking the constitutionality of the new tax.

In addition to changing the tax's name, the measure would exempt sundae syrup from the half-cent an ounce impost. The penny a 12-ounce bottle of soft drink was unchanged.

Pittsburgh, June 14 (AP)—Pretty Suzanne Weller, 14, was the talk of her neighborhood today after she collared a stray dog, believed rabid which bit at least 30 persons in the Beechview and Mt. Washington districts.

A half dozen radio cars and three animal rescue league trucks scoured the neighborhoods for the small black and white dog which terrorized children in three schools over a two-day period.

Meanwhile, Suzanne, one of 13 students at Lee school, Beechview, who were bitten or scratched, ignored her own fears and scratches to grab the dog as it was racing from the building. She pushed it into an empty school room and slammed the door.

Police took over from there. They carried the animal away to test it for rabies. Brave Suzanne that evening played her violin in a concert given by the school orchestra.

Senate GOP Ranks Split On Taxes

Harrisburg, June 14 (AP)—A Democratic proposal to prohibit local taxes on coal and other natural resources split Senate Republican ranks wide open today as the ban was put into administration legislation to broaden the tax base of municipalities.

Offered by Sen. John H. Dent the Democratic floor leader, as the House-passed measure came up for final action in the upper branch. It was adopted first 23-22 and then when a new roll call was asked, by 27-20 votes. A final vote was slated later in the day.

Dent said the amendment would outlaw "severance taxes" on natural resources, explaining those were levies enacted on coal and other resources such as oil, timber and slate when removed from the ground or the woods.

Butler, Pa., June 14 (AP)—The Fairground Service station, one quarter mile from state police barracks was robbed of $60 yesterday by a youthful masked gunman who pointed his gun at the head of attendant Harry K. Davis.

Quincy, Mass., (AP)—When Henry Nieland, Jr., lost his wallet more than three years ago, the finder was well-intentioned, but forgetful.

Nieland got the wallet back this week with an anonymous note explaining the oversight.

The wallet contained nothing but papers.

FIRE DAMAGES HOME ON FRIDAY

The Gettysburg fire company was called Friday evening about 6:30 o'clock to a fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clair A. Rebert, McKnightstown.

While members of the family had put out the blaze, which was confined to the kitchen of the house, the company examined the walls about the room to determine that no fire was still burning between the walls.

Mrs. Rebert said today that the fire was caused by an exploding oil stove. She was preparing the evening meal, she said, and had just walked away from the stove to pick up some potatoes ready for frying when the stove exploded. Her husband ran to the kitchen as the flames shot out from the stove and attempted to smother the blaze by using a rug. The wallpaper, window blinds and window frames caught fire, and assisted by Harold and Dorsey, Mr. and Mrs. Rebert threw water on the rapidly burning kitchen. Kitchen furniture was carried out of the room before the fire reached it. Clair Rebert was burned about the forehead while fighting the blaze.

Mrs. Rebert today said that the family the Gettysburg firemen arrived and praised the firemen's skill in determining that the fire was completely extinguished before leaving.

GERMAN REDS OPEN OFFENSIVE

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
Berlin, June 14 (AP)—The communists—supported by Russian occupation authorities and inspired by aggressive communist tactics in Hungary and elsewhere in Europe—were embarked today on what an American official called a "summer offensive" of their own.

This offensive is being waged by the Soviet-sponsored, communist-dominated Socialist Unity Party (SED) with campaign headquarters in Berlin, where the representatives of Russian communism and western democracy are in constant contact as they attempt to give four-power administration to this city and to Germany.

The communists' principal objectives, as interpreted by responsible American officials are:

1. To regain full control of Berlin's city government—lost in a resounding election defeat last October—possibly by forcing an early new election.

2. To spread communist influence into the western zones of Germany, occupied by the U. S. and Britain, through an intensified propaganda attack on British-American policies.

3. To quicken enactment of their economic policies in the Russian zone of Germany, overriding such political resistance as still exists there.

In Berlin, American sources predicted, the communists might soon launch a campaign for a new election before the end of 1947.

Duff Gets Bill On Raise For Judges

Harrisburg, June 14 (AP)—Judicial salaries in Pennsylvania will be boosted an average of 17 to 20 per cent if Gov. James H. Duff approves legislation approved by both branches of the state legislature.

Passed 157-19, the measure would grant these increases for judges:

Supreme court, chief justice, $20,000 to $23,500; associate justice, $19,500 to $23,000.

Superior court, president judge, $18,500 to $21,500; associate judges $23,000.

Common pleas judges in Philadelphia, $14,500 to $16,500; other counties above 100,000, $12,000 to $14,000; counties 65,000 to 100,000, $10,000 to $12,000; and less than 65,000, $9,000 to $11,000 a year.

Truman Keeps Mum On Tax, Labor Bills

Washington, June 14 (AP)—President Truman, back from his road trip to Canada, kept mum today on whether he will slap the widely predicted veto on a bill to cut income taxes $4,000,000 a year.

He gave no inkling either of his intentions toward the less immediate problem of the Taft-Hartley labor bill, on which he is known to have received conflicting advice from his counselors.

Republican leaders in the House were so confident Mr. Truman will reject the tax measure—due for a final Monday midnight vote—that they voted Tuesday on a motion to override. This would be followed by a similar attempt a day later in the Senate, where changes for 1947 are considered poor.

As for his decision on the labor bill, which he must approve or permit to become law without his signature by Friday midnight, most members of Congress preferred to be in the dark.

legislative wire early today.

A final Senate vote on the House-passed measure was made possible by action of the Senate Education committee after 2 a. m. EST, although as far as the upper branch clock was concerned, it was still Thursday night.

Upper Communities

Miss Helen Lower, Cynwyd, who has completed her work as a teacher in the schools of Lower Merion, has returned to spend the summer at her home at Table Rock.

Mrs. James Reed, Biglerville, accompanied by her grandsons, Bruce and Donald Nary, spent Thursday in Harrisburg with her sister, Mrs. Ernie Nicholas.

Arthur E. Rice, Jr., Biglerville, is attending a reunion of his class at Princeton university over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Bream, of Carlisle road, and Mr. and Mrs. Clair Grimm, of Table Rock, were guests of the Lions club of Frederick at a celebration of its 25th anniversary held at Hood college this week.

LEGISLATURE NEAR END OF LONG SESSION

Harrisburg, June 14 (AP)—The Pennsylvania General Assembly, already in session more than five months, headed into the home stretch today with Republican leaders planning a week-end recess to assure final action on pending key legislation.

"We have too many loose ends to clean up," explained Sen. Clarence D. Becker (R-Lebanon), chairman of the Senate Republican caucus. "I don't see how we can possibly adjourn as scheduled. I believe we will have to come back Monday."

The upper branch already has adopted a motion to adjourn finally tonight at 6 p. m. EST, and there was no immediate plan to rescind that.

Asked on the floor about adjournment prospects, Sen. O. J. Tallman, Republican floor leader, said "I am only hopeful the sessions may be adjourned tonight. I will know better when I have a further opportunity to consult with House leaders."

Many Bills Pending
Still pending as the lawmakers gathered for what leaders insisted will be the final official day—even though it may extend into Monday—were these issues:

State regulation of automobile financing companies by the state banking department with limitations on interest rates and other charges in connection with the payments.

A proposal to establish an 18-month moratorium for local posts of nationally recognized veteran organizations outside the state's quota law which now applies to all types of clubs.

Legislation to set up a new interstate turnpike commission to permit cooperation with Indiana, Ohio and West Virginia in the extension of Pennsylvania's toll road westward through Indiana.

State Aid For Nurses
Establish state regulation for anthracite strip mining operations similar to those imposed on soft coal open pit miners, requiring operators to obtain permits and post a bond of $200 an acre.

Authorize state aid for public school nurses and permit needy persons to apply for public assistance to pay for medical or dental care for afflicted school children as part of the administration's follow-up program for the state's school health examinations.

Measures to permit Philadelphia and Pittsburgh school boards to collect a personal property and mercantile tax for schools and Pittsburgh a $1 to $5 per capita levy. Subject of such controversy between lawmakers from the two cities, agreement on the levies permitted dropping of a plan to place the two districts in separate classifications. Both are class one now.

UN Stalled On Atom And Armament Issues

Lake Success, June 14 (AP)—The United Nations was stalled today on two major international problems—control of atomic energy and reduction of world armaments—and two UN commissions investigating trouble spots—Palestine and the Balkans—also hit snags.

The Arab higher committee for Palestine formally notified Secretary-General Trygve Lie that it intended to boycott the Holy Land inquiry which is scheduled to get under way Monday. In Cairo, Emil Sandstrom of Sweden, chairman of the Palestine investigation commission, said he regretted the decision.

"The Palestine Arabs' viewpoint would have been very useful to us and would also have been to their advantage," he said.

Yugoslav Ambassador Sava N. Kozarovic charged in another letter to Lie that the conduct of Mark P. E. Elbridge, American member of the Balkan investigating commission, had "imperilled" the work of that group and "the authority of the United States."

Altoona, Pa., June 14 (AP)—Eye-tinting fumes from burning film lifted through Altoona's business section during a blaze in a fireproof record room of a Pennsylvania railroad test plant yesterday. Loss was slight, and officials said permanent records had been obtained from the film destroyed. Cause of the fire was believed to be spontaneous combustion.

Troop C of the Mechanized Cavalry still exist.

Disband Unit Today
Governor James H. Duff will formally disband the remaining troops at a special ceremony to be held in the Farm Show building after today's parade at Harrisburg.

Four members of the company, Sgt. Bernard Miller, and Cpls. Clyde Topper, John Beard and Hayes Beard, rode motorcycles at the head of the column of armored cars on the trip to Harrisburg, Friday night, despite the heavy rain. Captain C. Arthur Brame attempted to make arrangements for motorcycles to be taken to Harrisburg by truck today in order to protect the drivers from the weather but the men decided they would brave the weather for the last trip.

Canvas tops were placed over the armored cars and the men wore leg-gings in addition to their fatigues, helmet liners and rain coats. With submachine guns slung over their shoulders they presented an extremely military appearance as they rode out of town about 8:30 o'clock Friday night.

Organized In 1941
All but two of the troop members were present for the final roll call here. They had been excused to meet the unit when it arrived at the farm show building at Harrisburg.

Scheduled to be in the reviewing stand for today's parade for the last 40 units of the State Guard are Governor Duff, U. S. Senator Edward Martin, Maj. Gen. M. S. Eddy, commanding officer of the Second army and Maj. Gen. Milton G. Baker, former commander of the Pennsylvania Guard.

The Guard was organized early in 1941 as the Pennsylvania Reserve Defense Corps to take the place of the National Guard, then called into service with the army. In 1943 the group became the Pennsylvania State Guard and in 1945 the name was again changed to the Pennsylvania Guard.

It was organized to protect strategic points, such as bridges, highways, essential industries and the like and to assist in rescue work during disaster until the return of the National Guard.

Harrisburg, June 14 (AP)—U. S. Senator Edward Martin, retired major general, was awarded the Pennsylvania distinguished service medal today.

Governor James H. Duff presented the medal to Senator Martin in recognition of "his unusual service" to the state at a review marking formal disbanding of the Pennsylvania guard, wartime organization which replaced the Pennsylvania National Guard while the latter was in federal service during World War Two.

More than 1,500 officers and men participated in deactivation ceremonies, including a parade through Harrisburg streets, of the state guard after six years of service as the state's homefront defense agency during the war.

Mercesburg, Pa., June 14 (AP)—Miss Anna Hoffman's fiancé received a fractured leg on the eve of their wedding date, but the wedding is going ahead anyway.

Learning that her fiancé, Emerson G. Morris, 23, of nearby Penbrook, had been injured in a highway accident, Miss Hoffman forthwith decided that the wedding, scheduled for this evening, would be held anyway—but at the hospital instead of the church.

Stevens' Day

had a 30-foot water wheel to generate power, park employees constructed a six-step cascade over which the water tumbles approximately 35 feet and flows back into the main channel.

Tom Norris, who talks interestingly about Thaddeus Stevens and his industrial activities at Caledonia, delights in pointing out the stonework in the basin of the cascade. The stonework, Tom says, is the original construction erected by Stevens for the basin of the huge water wheel formerly located at the spot.

In the flat land near the cascade basin, the foundation of a building formerly housing one of the active iron ore processing plants still stands intact. It was in that location that Stevens erected his forge, drop hammers, furnaces, blacksmith shop, and workers' houses—all of which were burned to the ground in 1863 by the invading Confederates.

Original Logs There

After the supply of ore in the Caledonia area became exhausted, a brief experiment was conducted in the Caledonia area in grinding the native quartz rock for use in pottery production.

One-tenth of the flow of the Conococheague creek is diverted into the long-abandoned race at a point approximately a quarter mile from the cascade. A log dam, originally built by Stevens, underwent minor repairs during the past Fall and is once again fulfilling its original purposes—diverting water into the race.

The dam, which stretches across the Conococheague to create just another of the park's scenic eye-catchers, has logs in the breast that were originally laid by Stevens, according to Mr. Norris.

As the water enters the race bed it expands into a peaceful, small lake that at places reaches a depth of eight feet. The water then follows the bed of the race, directly adjacent to the popular park path. "The tumbles," until it reaches the cascade.

Mr. Norris, admitting that the cascade will probably

Fire Levels Garage Near New Oxford

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a two-car frame garage, chicken house and hog pen on the property of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Phillips, Qualtyville, just north of New Oxford Tuesday morning. No estimate of the loss was available.

The New Oxford Fire company was called out shortly before 7 o'clock. The fire had gained considerable headway and firemen turned their efforts to saving the garage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Mummert, about twenty feet from the Phillips garage.

The buildings on the Phillips property were leveled in about 20 minutes. The wind carried flames toward the Mummert garage but firemen kept it from catching fire. The roof of the Mummert garage was charred and warped and it will probably be necessary to replace it.

No poultry or livestock was in the buildings which were destroyed. The chicken house and hog pen were attached to the garage. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips had left their home scarcely fifteen minutes before the fire was discovered.

Flames shooting from the demolished roof of the 25-year old structure were visible for miles.

New Hope For End Of Phone Strike

Washington, May 14 (AP)—Government conciliators called Union and Western Electric company officials back into session today with renewed hope of settling a strike which began April 7.

New wage offers by both sides were described as "a turning point in our negotiations" by Ernest Weaver, president of the Association of Communication Equipment workers.

The company made its first wage offer to the ACEW last night and the Union modified its demands. Although neither offer was accepted, it appeared that the negotiators were closer together than at any time since the walkout began.

Arendtsville borough, would have to make up in order to hold on schools as they are now set up and with the present enrollment.

Loss State Aid

"This you all know, without further argument, if so imposed would break down the economic structure of the borough.

"The deficit could be changed by the cooperation of Arendtsville borough, Franklin township, Meadwell township and Butler township, but in act 403 a 4th class district does not get the reimbursement for pupils sent to our school as they do from a district in the third class, namely Gettysburg. Thus Franklin chose to take her pupils away so they might save approximately $1,200 or more in cash. This statement is used as an example.

"The committee recommends a jointure be established for a set period of time. By this method the problems confronting each district involved can be ironed out and a longer term plan can be formulated. The cost of establishing, constructing, equipping, furnishing and maintaining joint schools or departments shall be paid by the several districts establishing the same, in such manner and in such proportion as they may agree upon.

Urges Cooperation

"The committee recommends that care be taken in the selecting of a faculty in each case with personality ability to cooperate, and having the progress of the boy and girl at heart in particular being the standards used.

"The long term plan will insure better schools for all concerned, but will require a lot of planning and perseverance. Cooperation with our directors in all plans will be needed, for the advancement of this long term plan intending to give said district a third class rating equal to Gettysburg."

In the preamble to its report the committee pointed out that its studies had been to determine the location of schools to "the best advantage for the boy and girl in particular."

M. E. Knouse, president of the Arendtsville board presided at the public meeting.

Favor Jointure

After some discussion concerning the differences between a merger and a jointure the residents agreed that the best thing to seek at present is a jointure because it permits action prior to the beginning of next year's school term.

Mr. Knouse explained that while at present it appears that possibly six school districts might agree to a jointure, the long range view makes it appear that several additional districts might in the future, according to their needs, enter the jointure proposed at the present time. As "things are shaping now," he said "the initial steps can be taken without undoing anything in the future if other districts come into the jointure."

There was some discussion concerning whether the Arendtsville high school building would be open for use by community residents on the same basis as in past years if the school board enters a jointure. It was pointed out that the various school boards will retain ownership of all buildings put up by them prior to the jointure after they unite and as a result the use of the school as a building would still be under the jurisdiction of the Arendtsville school board, "and I feel sure we will not change our policy," Knouse added.

Continue Activities

Donald Ernst, principal of Arendtsville, suggested that plays, operettas, games and the like on the high school level could probably be continued at Arendtsville as in the past when one patron pointed out that Arendtsville youngsters who could not arrange to stay after school at Biglerville would probably miss much of that type of activity.

John Bream, president of the Franklin township board protested against the statements about Franklin township in the report presented at the meeting. He said that while sending the Franklin students to Gettysburg was being considered the board had not as yet officially acted either way. He was reminded that the statement had been used merely as an example.

CONTROVERSIAL LABOR BILL ON WAY IN HOUSE

Harrisburg, May 14 (AP)—Controversial labor legislation started through the Republican-dominated General Assembly today with only that barring strikes by public employees, picketing by non-employees and equal pay for women bearing an administration label.

Independent action by the Senate and House Labor committees sent the labor bills to the floors of the respective Houses almost simultaneously yesterday with Democratic lawmakers and labor organizations immediately voicing opposition.

With Committee Okay

The Senate bills, described by Sen. O. J. Tallman (R-Lehigh), GOP Senate leader as "committee-approved measures only," would:

1. Require unions to admit to membership anyone qualified to fill a job regardless of closed shop agreements; limit union initiation fees to $25; and bar any restrictions on the number of apprentices.

2. Provide for a "cooling-off" period before any strike or lockout occurs and establish a state labor conciliation service to carry on negotiations in labor disputes during the waiting period; permit the State Labor Relations board to conduct secret ballots before and during strikes to determine by a majority vote whether a strike shall occur or continue.

3. Revise the State Labor Relations act to allow employers to speak on labor matters with employees; bar jurisdictional strikes; ban from collective bargaining discussion of employer policy on finances, plant techniques, location of plants, promotion or selection of employees or methods of production; prohibit secondary boycotts in strikes; picketing of employers' homes or blocking of public roads around establishments closed by labor disputes.

NEW LIQUOR LAW UP FOR DEBATE

Harrisburg, May 14 (AP)—A proposed new state liquor code was slated for debate in the House today with the Republican majority divided on the question of excluding clubs from the state's liquor license quota law.

Rep. Herbert P. Sorg (R-Elk), House majority leader, said the GOP House caucus took no stand on the code at a lengthy session at which supporters and opponents of the proposal debated the quota provision at length.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. Ellwood J. Turner (R-Delaware) codifies the state liquor laws, making seven changes in existing statutes including the quota provision.

"I am against voting on the club question in any codification of the liquor law," Rep. William McMillen

(R-Indiana), commented later on the question. "There is nothing in the bill to define what a club should be. It should be taken out of the code and voted on separately."

McMillen at the same time said he favored a provision in the code which he said would allow the state Superior Court to end present confusion on clubs. The provision would permit for the first time appeals from county courts, some of which have ruled clubs are within the quota and others that they are out.
